Foreword

"Time Is the Image of Eternity."

Diogenes Laertius

"Eons before man the perpetual ebb and flow of the ocean's tides carved an ever-changing face on the spinning globe. From the ocean's depths came man and inhabited the earth. Like the tides in which he was born he brought change... As the seas raged against the earth, ocean and land now fused now torn, so man met conflict. Struggle and peace became the alternating tides of history. We cannot mourn the ebbing tide as soon the flow will rush to land. So man has learned, eternal conflict is perpetual growth. Today's struggle is tomorrow's strength. We are part of man's perpetual renewal of strength. This strength is knowledge accumulated for us in the course of time. But unlike the tides controlled by the stars, we are not bound to fixed limitations. The future, a constant tide, ebbing and flowing is ours to determine."

The sections of eastern Carteret County, Beaufort, Smyrna, Atlantic, well understood the wisdom of Diogenes above as they came to grasp the problems of building a new community that would be the essence of humanity for now and for the future.

The flowing tides and shifting winds could have been messengers who witnessed the independent minds of three different groups who were struggling to interpret the knowledge of money, locations, purposes, needs, and desires of everyone involved. The manipulation of this data to incorporate the best education possible for eastern Carteret County's students took not months, but years.

As man well realizes, he is not a separate entity, but only a representative of the whole who needs the advice, wisdom, concern, and dependence of his fellowman for survival. The representatives of these communities learned to face their responsibilities and obligations toward each other, and they emerged with plans for a school that embedded the hopes and dreams of today and future generations.

Working together enriched these people with a common bond that is indestructible by time or change because the young people of today will emerge as tomorrow's future, and nothing is more important than the young minds of today.

The flow of the tides and the east wind are forces that gladly served to transport these three communities into one body that will be an exemplified unit of the greatness of mankind.

"Where are the layout sheets?"

"What's a layout?"

"When will the basketball pictures be taken?"

"Should we leave a margin on page 8?"

"What time is it?"

"Hasn't that man come yet?"

"What happened to the China mark-ing pencil?"

"No. We don't sell two dollar ads."
"Will 'he' let us charge an extra dollar?"

"Do we mail these sheets today?"
"I've already drawn it six times!"
"We'll have to meet tomorrow night and the next one and the next one..."

These are the problems faced by the first producers of the EAST WIND. The obstacles have been overcome, and the staff feels that the finished product will be a treasure-book of memories on the founding of East Carteret High School.

In the beauty of a cloudless night on the coast of North Carolina, East Carteret High School dominates our new campus. We, the staff of the EAST WIND, are pleased to present to the public the first color photograph taken of our completed plant.

Illuminated by its own radiance, this educational facility is an excellent example of the progressive mindedness of coastal North Carolina. We offer this picture as a tribute to all the people who have made this school possible for the education of the youth of eastern Carteret County.

We Dedicate the East Wind to East Carteret's Most Dedicated People of

The fall of 1965 captivated the hearts and interests of hundreds of students, teachers, administrative heads, parents, friends, and business leaders. Why? East Carteret High School was opening its doors for the first time to a new future which involved the idealistic dreams of all those who helped to create this institution.

Its construction was still in progress; therefore the students, the faculty, and the administration had to devote their full cooperation to even facilitate an efficient operation! The students, teachers, and administration had to give much of themselves to overcome the obstacles. To recognize the diligent work, cooperation, understanding, and sacrifices made by these people, we dedicate this, our first permanent record of East Carteret High School, the 1966 East Wind, to East Carteret, its students, faculty, and administration.

To the East Carteret High School students who are every day's evidence of God's gracious providence upon us, I extend my hope for an education that will provide for a successful and happy life.

Walter J. Taylor, Jr. Principal

The building of a new school is not only done with cement and steel, but also by the exemplified spirit of the student body. The mental, moral, and physical development of the whole student is the concern and responsibility of every leader. In our first year of existence, Mr. Taylor has definitely given us this leadership.

Mrs. Peggy D. Steele provides indispensable assistance as school secretary and treasurer.

One may always rely on Mrs. Fodrie's assistance in finding a library book.

The personal attention of Mrs. Klein and Mrs. Willis, our counselors, helps the students at East Carteret make the decisions confronting them.

Seniors 1966

It has been a long, hard year for the Seniors of 1966, but we have managed to come through with much success. We have tried to set an example for the rest of our school, and we have proved that in unity there is strength. I am sure that our record as the first graduating class of East Carteret High School will be well remembered in the coming years. For the opportunities bestowed upon us, we wish to thank our principal and our understanding faculty.

Who's Who at East Carteret

To recognize the outstanding students at East Carteret High School, Who's Who was initiated by the yearbook staff. The faculty chose the best qualified students.

The organizational staff considered the student's scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, general citizenship and promise of future success.

To establish a balance among the Senior Class candidates, the ten most outstanding boys and the ten most outstanding girls were chosen.

Emerson said: "The true test of a civilization is, not the census, nor the size of cities, nor the crops--no, but the kind of man the country turns out." Speaking for the Junior Class, I believe the true test of any class is not the number in the class, nor the size of the school, nor the field of study--no, but the kind of student the school turns out.

It is the aim of each member of the first Junior Class of East Carteret High School to be that kind of student which best represents a good school.

This 1965-66 school year has presented the Sophomore Class with many new challenges: a rise to higher academic standards, creation of a new social environment, and the selection of capable leaders, merging together to be a fitting example of the democratic ideals that every school group should possess. We are indeed thankful for these new opportunities.

Student Council

East Carteret's Student Council, the representative voice of the entire student body and the co-ordinator of many student activities, is composed of the elected officers, members-at-large, and homeroom representatives. The group works together to settle problems and make decisions for the entire student body.

This being the first year of East Carteret High School, the Student Council has been quite active in helping to organize the activities and clubs of our school.

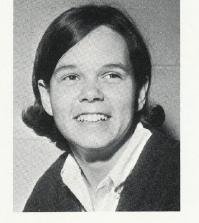

Each member of the Council has held a post as a hall monitor to direct hall traffic between class periods.

Two weeks before the closing of school, the elections of Student Council officers for the 1966-1967 school year were held. During the week, the polls were open to the students for registration prerequisite to voting. The Council representatives supervised the registration and voting.

The Student Council has worked hard this year to establish a foundation for the leadership of East Carteret in the coming years.

East Carteret Majorettes

East Carteret is most fortunate this year in having such a fine majorette squad that is so well organized and efficient. They twirled at all the home football games, and they performed at all other functions possible.

Two reasons for their profound accomplishment after only a summer of practice together can be found in the persons of Saundra Piner, their hardworking head, and Cynthia Beachem, their devoted business manager.

Without the co-operation of all the majorettes, however, these girls could have done but little. Awards went to Ann Vick, assistant to head, and Rachael Rhue. The awards were medals for Most Outstanding and Most Improved. They were won by the girls respectively.

The squad would like to express their appreciation to Bennie Haskins and Derek Thompson, the drummers who provided marching accompaniment for them.

The band, under the capable direction of Mr. Rae, improved steadily this year. The future of East Carteret's band appears to be very promising. The band played at several of our football and basketball games.

Bus Drivers, a Dedicated Lot

Many school mornings this year, sixteen high school students stumbled out of bed before dawn to begin a long, tedious journey from Cedar Island or Adams Creek to the campus of our new high school. To add to the load of their responsibilities, the safety of most of eastern Carteret County's elementary and high school students rested in the capable hands of these. boys and girls.

North Carolina being the only state in which students are licensed to drive school buses, East Carteret takes great pride in the record of safety of its drivers.

Despite a lot of determination, the East Carteret Varsity could only manage a 2-7 record this year.

East Carteret displayed great power early in each game but was unable to sustain the drive needed to win the contest during the whole game.

Although this year's squad did not turn out to be a champion, it developed in these boys a much greater attribute, character. This quality will follow them down the highway of life, and it is hoped that they will remember that this team and its coaches helped them to acquire it.

Junior Varsity Football

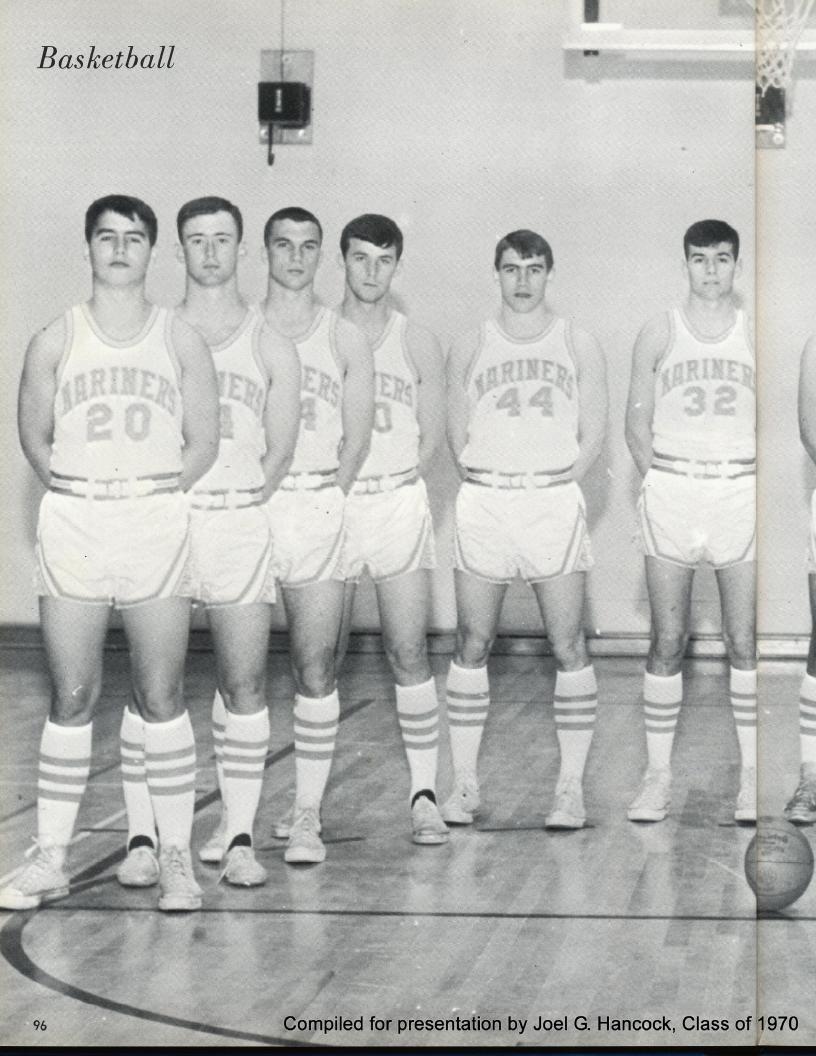

In its initial year at East Carteret, the Junior Varsity football program had a great many difficulties. However, through the efforts of Coach Rhett Fulcher and the boys themselves, many of these difficulties were overcome, and we are looking forward to seeing many of these boys on the Varsity squad next year.

Perhaps the biggest headaches of this season were shared by two men, Head Coach Mal Boyette and Assistant Coach Raymond Gillikin. Many problems stood directly in the path of progress for these two men. Together these men strived to solve problems and produce a winning team. Although the season was only fairly successful, many of the athletic problems created by consolidation were eliminated by the efforts of these two men. Thanks and good luck to Coach Boyette and Coach Gillikin.

Early in November about thirty boys came out for basket-ball at ECHS. Boys from three schools had to learn to work together for the first time. Adverse conditions hindered practices until late in the season. The gym had not been completed, and the Mariners were forced to practice in the Beaufort gym.

Team spirit was quite high during most of the season. Teamwork seemed to be the major problem. Near the end of the regular season, the boys began to work together quite well as a unit. The effect of practicing teamwork hit its peak during the final game of the conference tournament. Although the Mariners lost by two points, the fans were well pleased with the progress the boys had made during the year.

Graduating this year are four Seniors. Only two of the Seniors were regulars. Prospects for the coming year look to be better than average with seven Juniors and one sophomore returning.

This year was a trying year for both coaches and players. Much praise should be given to these boys for laying a permanent foundation for basketball at ECHS. Finally, in looking back on the entire season, we say, "Congratulations for a job well done."

Starters; Catherine Arrington, Sally Davis, Dawn Hassell, Susan Arrington, Annette Chappell, Cynthia Beachem, Saundra Piner.

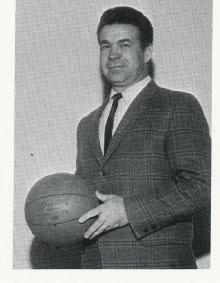

Enduring love for the game enabled the girls to have a team this year. Coached by Tracy Bass, they played hard and with superlative sportsmanship. Their rewards were great: runners-up conference honors, better knowledge and more enjoyment of the game, two team members named to the All Conference team (Saundra Piner, captain and forward, and Susan Arrington, guard), and further development physically, socially, and mentally The winners of the girls' basketball trophies were Most Valuable, Saundra Piner, and Sportsmanship, Susan Arrington.

All the girls played at most of the games. The team was fortunate in having good substitutes as well as a good manager and coach. The girls' conduct and success is a sure inference that such activities should continue at East Carteret.

Baseball Team

In forming a baseball team this year, the coaches had several valuable players from which to choose. Many of the boys from our area of Carteret County are very talented in this sport.

The team was very successful this year. Under the exceptional coaching abilities of Coaches John Hamilton and Pete Barnes, the boys played hard and showed exceedingly good sportsmanship. The team concluded the season with a record of eight wins, five losses, and one draw.

Trophies were awarded to Gary Lewis, most valuable player and Johnny Merrill, sportsmanship. East Carteret is understandably proud of the conduct and the achievements of its first baseball team.

Track Team

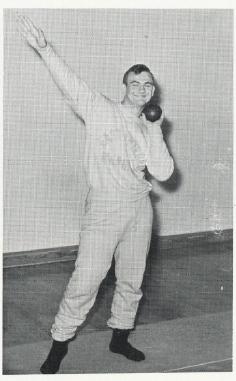

Track is a sport in which a person can excel with the help of his own individual initiative and the necessary guidance and instruction from the coaches. It can instill within the boys the desire for a higher goal and good sportsmanship. According to the decision made by their coach, the boys on the next page are E.C.'s top track stars. We are very proud of the efforts of the boys to make the track a successful one for East Carteret. In the near future many great things are to be expected from this team which will lose only one member this year.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Since the East Carteret cheerleader squad was formed from the squads of the consolidated schools, the cheerleaders had to work extra hard learning new cheers before the first games. If it had not been for the co-operation of all the girls, this year's squad would not have been the success it was. They promoted pep and school spirit at every football and basketball game. Also, the guidance and direction provided by the cheering squad at the pep rallies inspired the students to possess a conquering spirit and helped to instill a forceful participation in support of their teams.

Election Day '66

In the early part of May, the Nominating Committee began meeting to choose the candidates for the offices of the Student Association. During the week of May 16, students had to register so they could vote in the elections. This was a new procedure for our students, and it proved difficult to get the students to register.

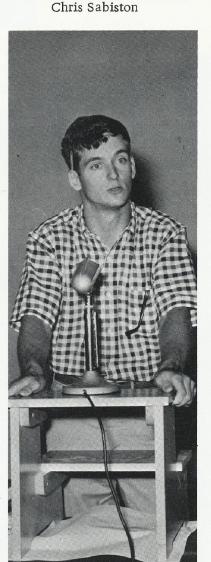

The next Friday, May 27, the students voted for their Student Association officers for the 1966-67 School Year. The campaigning for the officers was mild due to the restrictions imposed by the Student Council. During the activity period of this Friday, the speeches were made by the candidates. Here are several shots of some of the candidates as they presented their speeches.

"No Gail, vote for Chris!" "No, for Rod!" The campaigning became rather stiff and swift around the Senior balloting section.

Since the rules require a candidate to have a majority to be elected to an office of the Student Association, a run-off election was held Monday, May 30! The candidates in this election were as follows:

President Rod Simpson Secretary Susan Young
Susan Pittman Darlene Willis

Vice-President Tony Piner Treasurer Bobbie J. Lewis

ECHS Chorus Performs at Baccalaureate and Graduation

The ECHS Chorus had been organized for less than a month when they performed for the Seniors. Under the direction of Mrs. Charles Hassell, they progressed rapidly and gave their first performance at the May P.T.A. meeting. They are to be commended for their superb singing whenever they performed. Since many members were absent when this picture was taken, we did not list any names.

Nancy Hooper welcomes the parents and guests to our graduation exercises.

Standing tall and proud after the processional, the graduates appear quite willing to accept the responsibilities of their new life.

Graduation

The class of 1966 wore dark blue robes with blue tassels. The Beta Club members had gold tassels as their mark of distinction. The fifteen Honor Students wore gold honor cords so they might be distinguished for their scholastic achievement. These students participated in both programs, making these ceremonies truly the final products of the graduates at ECHS. During both services, the music was given by the ECHS Chorus. Mrs. Charles Hassell directed the group.

The Commencement Exercises were held June 6, 1966, at 8 p.m. for the first graduating class. The Baccalaureate Service was held on the previous evening. The Rev. Mr. John M. Cline of Fairmont Methodist Church in Raleigh delivered the sermon. His message dealt with the decisions we must make in the life after graduation from East Carteret.

For the Commencement Exercises the main address was presented by three Honor Students. The theme of their address was "Being a Good American." Following the speeches, the diplomas were given and the graduates officially entered the world. As the 151 graduates marched from the gymnasium, the sentimental strains of the processional marked the start of a new life and "the end of the beginning."

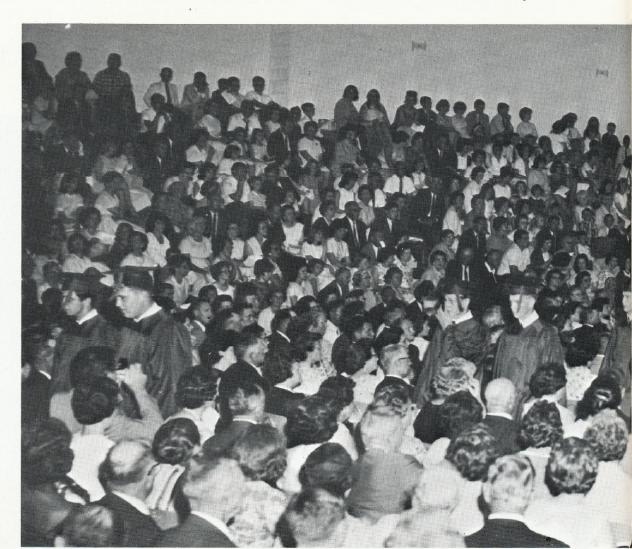

Gail Willis bids East Carteret a fond farewell for the graduates.

As they march out, the class of 1966 awaits their new life wherever it may be. May the best of everything attend them through the life they face in the world of 1966.

East Wind Editors Express Their Thanks

We offer a special "Thank you" to the many parents who have opened their homes to us this year. Without their generosity, our yearbook would not have been possible. Each of us knows how trying it must have been to have had to listen to all the arguments, "corny" jokes, and hysterical giggling of a group of exhausted young workers. Our appreciation goes to Ellen Smith, who worked untiringly on each phase of our yearbook.

Our three advisors, Mrs. Rebecca Joyner, Mr. Malcolm Fulcher, and Mrs. Faye Nelson, and Mr. Lee Blackwell, representative of the Taylor Publishing Company, deserve special recognition for their assistance and unending patience to the yearbook staff.

We also wish to thank all the establishments which have cooperated in helping us to meet our deadlines.
