PROCIAMA

Prepared for display by Shannon Adams. Please consider donating to the Core Sound Waterfowl Museum, Carteret County Historical Society, Promise Land Society, Salter Path Heritage Association, or charity of your choice (preferably in Carteret County) for these efforts.

We took persons, made them into a class.

We found a color, then another.

We found other colors also.

We made each color into a nice straight line.

Then we bent the lines of color to our will.

It has taken us twelve years, but we have formed a perfect arc.

An arc of straight lines of color.

Because of the love

time which pain we joy put wonder into

our arc

it is now a rainbow.

We climb the steep end

We rest—for a moment—at the top

But we will not hesitate to slide down the other side to realize the promise of our future.

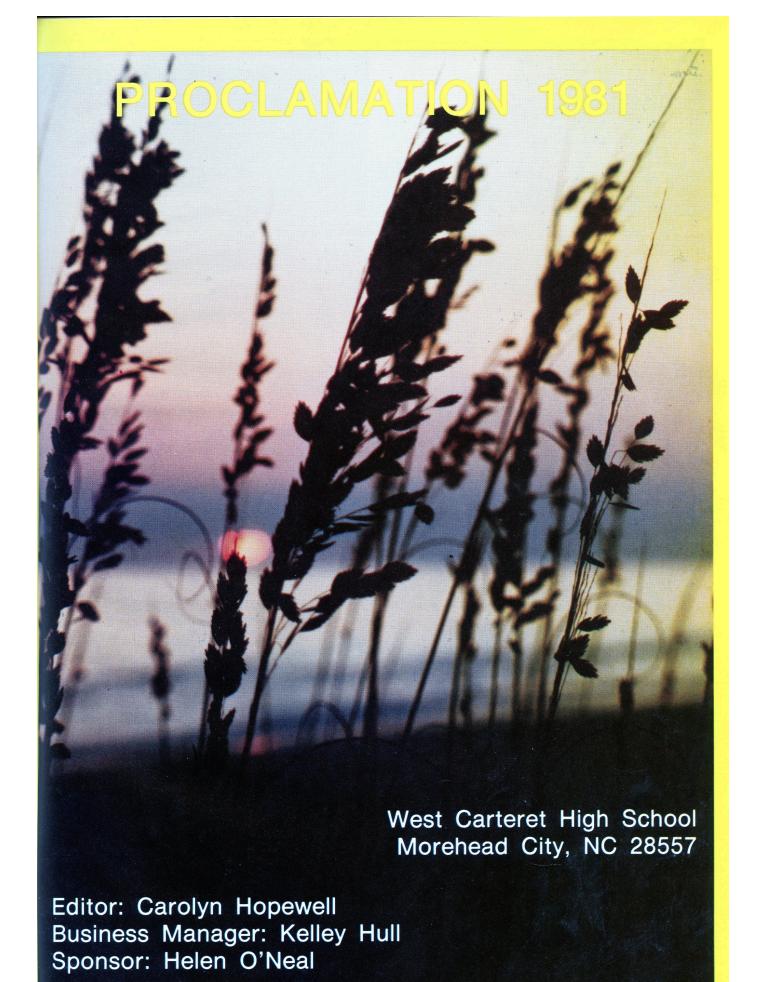

We are not afraid of life

We love life because

We are life

We . . . the class of '81.

The Yearbook Staff is proud to dedicate the 1981 Proclamation to Mr. Bill Skarren

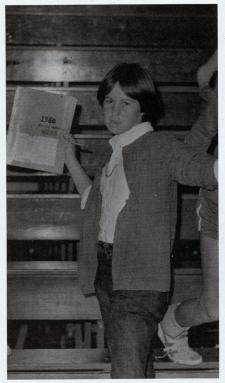

Mr. Bill Skarren, known for his ribbon ties and "boop-boop-de-doops," has devoted much of his time to the students at West Carteret. He always has a smile on his face, and he is definitely a pleasure to be around. As head of the math department, he is always there for students who have a problem—whether it be math or a personal problem. His devotion and wit have made him an outstanding teacher and friend, and for these reasons the Yearbook Staff proudly dedicates the 1981 Proclamation to Mr. Bill Skarren.

Someday We'll Find It,

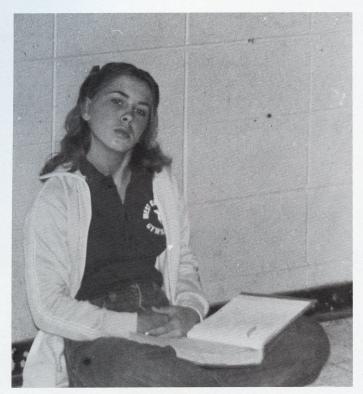

The Lovers,

Rainbows are special and have a unique meaning to each individual. The rainbow is composed of every color, bound in one beautiful form. Like all humanity, the Rainbow is all colors standing alone, yet flowing in one accord towards the pot of gold—towards the Dream. God sends Rainbows not only for the vision we see, but also for the vision we hold deep in our hearts. For that vision, we have Rainbows, and because of Rainbows, we become willing to live or to die for the Dream. Believe in your Dream and believe in the Rainbow. Only then can you experience the true Rainbow Connection . . .

1980-81 Homecoming Queen-Miss Jacqueline Lancaster

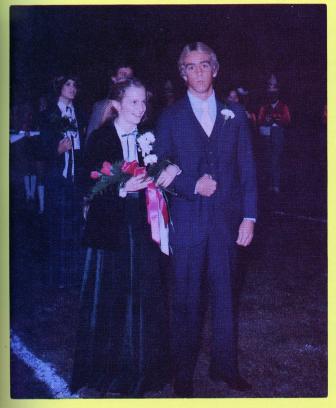

HOMECOMING

This Homecoming year brought fun and excitement for every student at West. The week began with an assembly introducing the ten candidates running for Homecoming Queen. The annual homecoming parade was on Friday, October 31; therefore the theme was Halloween. The Freshman Class won first prize in the float contest. Although the West Carteret Patriots lost a heartbreaking game to the West Craven Eagles, half time brought excitement! Karr Lynn Farrell, last year's queen, presented Jacqueline Lancaster with the homecoming crown. The two runners up were Martha Cordioli and Kathy Heckler. After the game, everyone enjoyed a dance in the cafeteria.

DRAMA

DRAMA

My, my while it lasted, so much work and so much fun
Knowing that any moment you can reach out and you can become
It's all part of drama, the wishing and the believing
Romance, Wickedness, loving or deceiving
We can feel pain and we can feel hurt
Sometimes being the bad guy when the good guy is preferred
We concentrate for we must relate to the part we are to be
For the time we portray the character there is no such thing as "me."

The work, the preparation, and the big moment has arrived
The prop people, the stage manager, the director
And the actor, they all come alive
The costume designer, the makeup person, the light crew, the ones behind the scenes
These are the ones who show us all what drama really means

The policy of work, of moving forward only to progress

The lights go down, the audience roars, there is nothing like success.

THE SENIOR

JUNIOR PICNIC

On May 20, 1981, the Seniors gave the Juniors a picnic for their hard work on the prom. This year's picnic was a little different than the past picnics. The afternoon began with the Juniors and Seniors picnicing on barbeque and chicken. Afterwards everyone enjoyed the three-legged race, tug of war, red rover, volleyball and a pie eating contest. Mr. Tillery attended the picnic, which really made everyone happy! A special thanks goes to Jeff Garner for cooking the pigs.

Senior Teach Day

Principal???

Some call them educators!

You're going to do what?

Which one is Mrs. Blackburn?

On Tuesday, May 5, the seniors participated in the traditional senior teach day. From the east wing to the west wing of the building, everyone was under senior authority. While the seniors enjoyed the lounge and reserved lunchroom seats, the teachers took the role of observers. The seniors enjoyed this activity and hope this tradition is continued in the future.

The West Carteret Patriot's Varsity Football team was a team with "blood, guts, and heart." The team suffered through injuries to key players, and the games won and lost were just a matter of inches. The schedule the Patriots faced was rough as the bigger 4-A schools took their toll on key players. The bright spots of this 1980 Patriot team was that they never gave up; they kept going though the odds were against them and still came out as winners. This team went 4-6 and the most memorable games were the two victories over conference foes—White Oak and East Carteret. West beat White Oak for the first time ever with a dramatic conference record of 6 overtimes for a 36-30 vicotry. The Mullet Bucket game climaxed a successful year as West kept the bucket for another year and enjoyed the traditional hamburger feast at McDonald's.

The West Carteret Soccer Team ended with a record of 6-7-1. The team was led by four seniors; Gus Alen, Doug Kelly, Luis Moreno, and Patrick Norris. Seven starters are returning.

Bobby Levey led the team in scoring with 21 goals. This was a record for the Patriots formerly held by Rich Levey. Doug Kelly led the team in assists. He was the playmaker on offense and was responsible for much of Bobby's scoring.

The season was very good in terms of support from the students and parents. The crowds were larger than last year, and they seemed to enjoy the matches.

VARSITY

We began with a list of numbers and names posted on the library door the morning after a day of intense nervousness and a night of total sleeplessness. And there we were; the 1980-81 West Carteret High School Varsity cheerleaders. The pride was already there.

We went to camp, sweated, worked, laughed, and cheered, all day every day for five days. And during the summer we practiced at school, setting our alarm clocks for five or six or seven, and when they went off we cursed Miss Ackert, cheerleading, and alarm clocks. But only for a minute.

And there was football season. And the solemn wonder of wearing that uniform for the first time. And all those fragments of thoughts between cheers that contained all the excitement, tension, and joy of being out there.

And basketball season . . . we thought it would be so long-was it? Didn't it fly by? We tasted success and fame and, finally, when we never thought it would come, defeat. And though we fell, we felt-deeply and strongly; and through the pain and the tears we knew how vibrantly alive we were.

We went to competition. We traveled and worried and worked and tried . . . Lord, how we tried. We found out what it means to give every single bit of anything within us to grind out every shred of energy and knowledge and spirit-couldn't they tell? No, we didn't do badly at all-but we've never been the kind to set goals any lower than the stars.

There have been times when we've wondered—why? Why the money, the time, the inconvenience, the practice, the long rides? For the same reason that this isn't in first person, because little by little, or lots by lots, we've become a family, complete with parent, and we trust, believe in, and rely on each other. We have to. We are a squad, a lot of the time it's been hard-but wouldn't we all do it over if we had the chance?

Carnell Jones and Yvonne Reese check their receipt books. One of the duties of staff members is to advertise and sell subscriptions for the book.

Shelly Helms and Mary Hill make sure their books are correct.

Gus Alen and Doug Kelly draw the layout for soccer.

Troy Simmons decides which pictures to use.

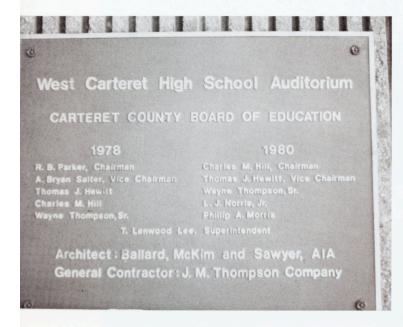

Pam Trent works on her section.

A deadline must be near-everyone seems really busy.

For most of us on the staff when the year began words like layout, cropping, tri-pak, copy, were just words or were used in ways which had no connection with a yearbook. Through the year, greatly aided by the experience of Carolyn, Kelly, and Mr. Jim Darwin, these words not only had a new meaning for us but became concrete parts of a book-to-be. At the end of this year we feel we have a book to be proud of; we hope you think so too. We worked as a team and we really thank our team leader, Carolyn, for all her help, encouragement, and smiles.

BACCALAUREATE

SALUTATORIAN

Patrick Headen Norris

We, the graduating class of 1981, wish to welcome you to this, our commencement exercises. We appreciate your coming to share with us this special occasion.

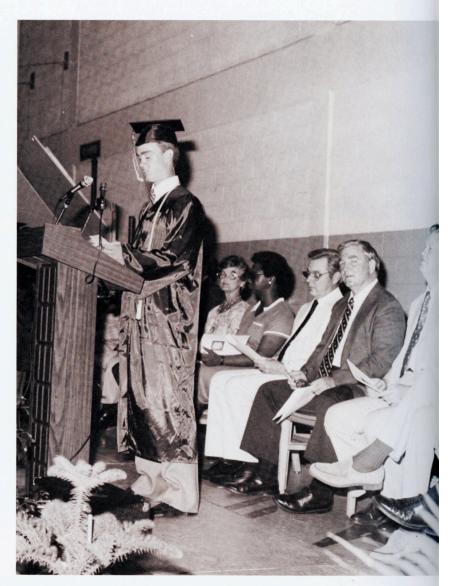

To our honored guests we greet you with a feeling of admiration. We are able to look upon your achievements to acquire some of the success and esteem you hold. We thank you for the high ideals you display in your lives as an example for us. To the faculty, we greet you with a feeling of gratitude. You have helped us in times of need and have striven to prepare us for the world beyond our protected high school years. We offer you our thanks for the care, knowledge, and mostly for the love you have extended to us.

We welcome our parents as our support through these trying years. You have given us your advice to help us achieve this goal tonight. At times, we do not seem to appreciate your efforts to make our lives easier, but we do thank you. Please continue to guide us as we leave this place.

To our relatives and friends who have joined us tonight, we wish to thank you for your contributions to our lives. We are all part of everyone we know, and we appreciate that part each of you has given us.

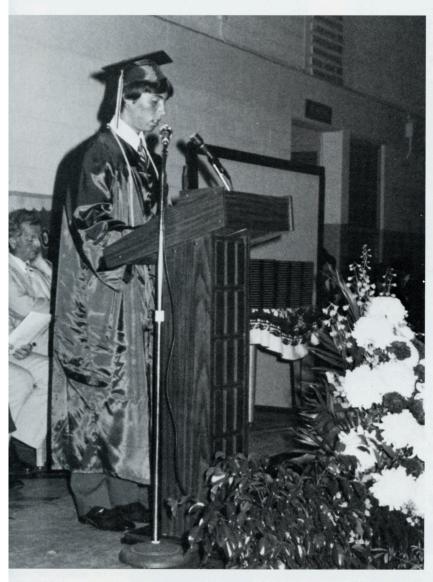

Finally I want to welcome my fellow students. You who have made our time here at West Carteret more than something done to further our education. You are special people, and have made our school into a place where people helped each other and learned from each other. This is our last gathering as a class and tomorrow this graduation will only exist in your memory, so always cherish these memories in your later years. I thank God for the opportunity I had to meet each one of you, and may He bless you in your life ahead.

Once again we welcome everyone to our graduation, and we thank you for coming.

VALEDICTORIAN

John Blackland Scarff

ife is bright and gratifying for the iors at West Carteret tonight. We e accomplished our goal; we have pleted an assignment that was en to us four years ago. All of us proud of ourselves and of our smates, for we are to become duates tonight, characters in a ne which has been played repeatedor years upon this stage and in isands of comparable settings ughout this country. We are youth, ly to move across the eminent shold to adulthood. We are the e of the world, the promise of a iter tomorrow. This is an awesome onsibility, but this is also a lenge for which we have been fully prepared. We, the members of the class of 1981, stand ready to accept this ultimate challenge. As a group we are capable; we are conscientious; we will aspire; we will achieve; success will be our trademark. As graduates we are beneficiaries of a quality education of which many of the world's people can only dream. It has been an education not only in scholarship, but in all those aspects of life which combine to produce worthwhile individuals and a wholesome society.

For this we are thankful and deeply appreciative. To our families and other guiding adults, we are grateful for teaching us to establish proper values and to recognize the meaning and importance of personal relationships. We are thankful for our churches which have instilled spiritual truths and have provided guidelines that will be a vital part of each of us throughout our lives. We are appreciative of our classmates and special friends whose loyalty and support have been essential in our developing a sense of personal worth and compassion towards others. We are especially indebted to our teachers who have inspired and expanded our intellectual horizons both as instructors and as friends, and to our school which has molded and nurtured our academic, athletic, and artistic growth, culminating in tonight's celebration.

Here at West Carteret, we have been part of a small community, meeting and reacting to life in a secure, protected environment. We have been overseen, prodded, influenced, and encouraged by teachers, family and friends. Here, we have taken tests so that others can measure the extent of knowledge that we have accumulated, but the greatest test awaits us yet . . . the test of how we utilize this knowledge in our future lives. At West Carteret we have been given the questions and shown the answers. After tonight we are on our own. Whether we continue to seek solutions and to find answers to problems confronting us in the future will determine our final evaluation as adults. No longer will we be merely assistants; we will become associates, to play an active role in developing a better and brighter world for our fellowman and our nation.

We have been given so much; now we will give in return.

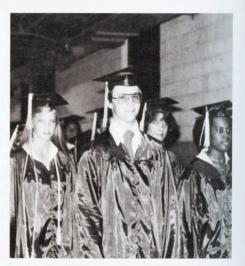

Thank you and may God bless.
