BREAK

With the onset of a new millenium, we look back at our past to reminisce over the wonderful days gone by. We gaze to our future that is bright and full of challenges, celebrations, and growth. This year, the yearbook staff reflects on a year that has taught us to look towards our future, but also to retain memories of the past. It is a new DAWN, a new day, and the break of a NEW AGE.

In Mr. Chadwick’s Women’s Weight Training class, Trish Vann, Christy Smith, and Tracy Peterson play games after doing their workout. They are close friends and enjoy staying in shape by working out, even during school hours.

Leah Hancock anxiously watches the Mullet Bucket against West Carteret on September 19. We won (of course)! Jennifer Arrington and Charlotte Taylor cheer the home team on to victory.

No matter what time it is, East Carteret students have a habit of making things fun. Everyone makes the most of waking up at the crack of dawn day after day enduring the grueling school days. Though reports, exams, practices, homework, and studying are tough, students still find time for laughing with their friends.

The teachers generally agree that goofing off in class is “cool” at the right time and place, just as long as it doesn’t go too far. It shouldn’t be a regular disruption to the class because it breaks concentration. Cuttin’ up can be a comic relief, but tends to get out of hand. Sometimes, especially the day before a long vacation, students act like children on Christmas Eve and the noise level increases to fever pitch. Nevertheless, kidding around is only normal. “You’re only young once. Just as long as they [the students] aren’t threatening my body...I can live with it,” says Mr. Ed Shafer. Mr. Kappel admits that he even cuts up more than the kids do! So yes, if you are repeatedly sent to Chill’ Out for always talking during class, most of the teachers really do understand.

A local kid (Bill Lewis) bonds with some foreign exchange students (Johannes Kraeter and Helena Celma). They joke around in the auditorium before the BETA Club inductions on March 12.

Excited students await the BETA Club inductions wondering if they'll get in. BETA Club consists of the top students of the junior and senior classes, which is a very prestigious honor. Renae Lawrence, Tamarra McClain, Lenora Nolan, Lazasia Frazier, and Nicole Robinson chat before the ceremony starts.

Michael Brown surfs the net while his friends Mckley Lawrence, Alan Rose, and Alicia Smith watch. Most of the computer users were hooked up to the internet and the students had to sign a contract saying they would not go into any "inappropriate" sights. Students received an internet card after signing this agreement. Students were not allowed to watch someone else surf the net without displaying their cards.

Casey Anderson presents her report on Costa Rica in her Spanish class with Ashley Best's assistance. Senora Topping borrowed Ms. Raines' class room during fourth period due to lack of space.
A Different Kind of Play

Most play spectators are more familiar with East Carteret Musicals which are full of fun and dancing. "The Diary of Anne Frank" was a different kind of play. It was a drama that pulled on the heart strings of the audience. As soon as the audience was seated, they were captivated by the joyful little girl Anne. It was easy for them to identify with her struggles in hiding in an attic. In the end, Anne, her family, and friends were discovered and shipped away to German concentration camps. The ending of the play was very sad because the audience had seen Anne grow up in front of their eyes and when she died they felt as if they had lost her also. The play left one with an appreciation for life, the simple things taken for granted.

The Hanukkah celebration was a joyous occasion during the play. It was a time when everyone forgot their problems and rejoiced at being able to have each other, which is all that counted. Anne gave everyone presents made out of objects she found around the attic. Everyone sat down and had a supper with what was available.

Anne is receiving counseling from her father Otto Frank. Anne and her father had a very close relationship, which helped them get through the hard times.
The display for The Diary of Anne Frank captivated the play spectators as they entered the door. The idea behind the display was to transport people back in time. It prepared them for the seriousness of the play.

Mr. Frank and Meip read Anne's diary that has been found many years after her death. The audience is transported back in time to see the progression of Anne's life through the diary.

My Fair Lady

“My Fair Lady” was the 1998 East Carteret High School spring musical. This excellent musical was chosen by an awesome directing team of Mrs. Lisa Fri dance and Mrs. Kandice Davis. “My Fair Lady” is the story of how far someone would go just to be accepted in the world of the rich and aristocratic. Eliza Doolittle, a gutter snipe, works as hard as she can to become a proper woman. In the meantime she makes an impression on all, through her stubborn ways, and falls in love. Eventually the audience sees that Henry Higgins, her teacher, has more of a connection with Eliza than either of them knew.

The audience was captivated by the brilliant scenes, flamboyant costumes, and excellent talent of all the actors and actresses. The musical numbers brought smiles as well as tears upon all who witnessed this magical night of singing, dancing, and love.

Colonel Pickering (Quentin Bunch) and Mrs. Higgins (Sherry Willis) are discussing today’s horse races. Mrs. Higgins is soon going to find out that her son is bringing a common flower girl to the races.

Henry Higgins (Desmond Garner) and Eliza Doolittle (Leah Hancock) share a quiet moment together discussing her future after she leaves Henry. Little did they know just how much in love they really were.

Freddy (Jack Booth) waits patiently to catch a glimpse of Eliza. Mrs. Pierce (Bobbie Lynn Hoffman) tries to tell him that Eliza doesn’t want any company after her embarrassment at the races. Freddy remains true to his love of Eliza and never gives up his fight to make her his own.

Doolittle (Asher Willis) and Eliza’s best friend Darcie (Cassie Kirby-Smith) dance the night away in hopes that his last memory of being single will be a good one.

Since Doolittle only has a few more hours until he gets married, his friends celebrate his last hours of bachelor freedom.
This is Eliza's chance to make a good impression on the aristocrats attending the horse races. At first Lady Boxington (Kate Hughes), Colonel Pickering (Quentin Bunch), Mrs. Eynsford-Hill (Amanda Nelson), and Mrs. Higgins (Sherry Willis) are impressed by her manners. Soon they will find out that Eliza's manners go only so far.

“It has begun,” exclaim the prim and proper as the horses begin to race during the Ascot Gavotte. The costumes for this scene are stunning, composed of silk and satin dresses, flamboyant hats, tailored suits, and bamboo canes. For some actresses and actors it was very difficult to maintain the look of snobbery and not to smile. However, Dexter Garner, Lena Cook, Laurel Guthrie, and Chris Hopkins stay in character with ease.

Barney Barker is East Carteret's Band director of two years. He has tried to make a name for himself as well as for the band. He has changed lots of things, but that has brought East to a level that lets them compete with other schools.

Each year at the Mullet Bucket, both East and West put their differences aside to perform the Star Spangled Banner. This two year old tradition gives students a chance to make friends as well as talk to ones they hardly see.

The East Carteret Marching Mariners proudly display their talent for their supporters. The annual Christmas parade is a time for the band to show off their routines to the people who love them the best.

The band is stepping high while performing their Christmas melody. This year the band did not play "Brighter Side," which caused some conflicts, but the band and its supporters were happy with the finished product.

The "cowboy" version of the band is warming up for the halftime show. This year, the band did not wear their usual overlay. In order to be "in character", the parents sewed fringes on the jackets and the band bought cowboy hats. Everyone put forth lots of effort and time to see the band was properly dressed for their role.
A Year of Firsts

The 97-98 year was full of things that ECHS had never done before. Usually at Christmas, the band plays the traditional Brighter Side song. This year, the band played a melody of songs with a different sound. The melody was a mixture of different songs with an upbeat jazz section. The band worked many hours in order to get the performance ready to take to Chicago. The band also performed the song in the local parades. Overall, the parade season was good. During the fall, the band gave up their overlays to put on their “western gear”.

During band Ashley Best takes advantage of break time and sits down to rest. Band camp was a long, hot week. Band members spent long grueling hours learning drill for the upcoming shows.

Brent Ivester marches proudly down Front Street in Beaufort. He has been in band for three years now and enjoys going on band trips and spending time with his friends in the band.

Galen Jones poses pretty for the camera before a parade. Galen has been in band for two years and by now is used to the pre-parade routine of waiting.
Struttin' Their Stuff.....

Behind the scene practice pays off!

This year the color guard worked many long hours in order to put together their portion of the half-time. Many practices after school as well as every morning, kept everyone on their toes. Between drills and routines, everyone was learning something new every day. Parade season was next and time was devoted to all their loved ones at home. Chicago on TV.

Kathy Gillkin is just hanging around band camp waiting for the next instructions to be given. Kathy used band camp as an opportunity to work on her suntan since she had to be outside all day anyway.

Allison Lewis and Deanne Sailer are looking for their next position in the drill section.

Katie Daniels is showing her warm-up style during a half-time show. This was Katie’s first year of guard, and she put forth a lot of time and energy in order to do her best when she was cut on the field.

Celeste Taylor and Allison Lewis perform the Cherokee portion of the half-time show. The flags were beautifully done with pictures of sunset among a colorful sky. The flags fit in with the theme of the song.

Laura Beth Piner and Amber Cannon stand at attention at the pre-game show, while the band plays the Star Spangled Banner. The pre-game show is done before every home game.

Glimmering in their guard uniforms, Laura Piner and Erin Chadwick display winning smiles!

Tanya Best is learning how to do her rifle routine during band camp. “We drilled the routines so much that we actually dreamed about them at night,” says Lena Cook.

Many of the guard members wore sunscreen to protect themselves from the summer sun. Lunch breaks were usually filled with grateful minutes of swimming, which provided temporary relief from the heat for some like Brooke Willis.
A Break from the Past...

Winterguard was done differently this year than in years past. Students had to be in the class to perform with the group. Many who wanted to be in Guard could not fit the class in their schedule. They were allowed to come to practices after school and still perform. The only problem with this new rule was that the after school members missed out on the material taught in class each day. These Winterguard members spent a lot of time catching up. All in all everything worked out just fine.

The Winterguard spent many hours learning equipment work as well as dance steps.

Although East faced a tough crowd at competition, guard members like Carrie Smith, Katelyn Gillies, and Celeste Taylor put on their smiling faces for the judges.

Some of the many hours spent practicing occurred during 2nd period. The Guard used the hall in front of the gym because of the high ceilings.

Dedicated Guard members like Becky Kappel performed even with injuries. Becky had injured her leg skiing.

The crowd responded well to the dance portion of the show. "Bugle Boy" is the kind of song that lends itself to dancing.

Jane Fordham tosses her rifle and tries to catch it perfectly in front of the judges. Often, too many drops results in a penalty for the performing team.

Allison Lewis twirls her rifle to the foot stompin' 40's hit "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy." Winterguard members spent much time preparing for their competition at West Carteret.

Lena Gaskill plays the role of the Bugle boy during the Winterguard performance.

The vocal music program at ECHS takes off....

The pride of the East continues with the success and growth of the Mariner Singers and Chorus. This school year saw a new twist to an old favorite. By combining song and dance, the Mariner Singers and Chorus gave the right “punch” to a great performance. A special thanks to Mrs. Susan Hancock for her guidance, patience, and talent. From the wonderful Christmas program to the Educational Fair the two groups represented the best at East Carteret. We’re proud of their dedication and thank them for the gift of music that they have shared with all of us.

Chorus members Nina Secor and Jennifer Wesley take this pre-Christmas concert practice very seriously.

Members of the Chorus enjoy singing the upbeat lyrics of “We Go Together” from the movie Grease.

Rehearsals are tough but the Chorus manages to find the time to take a short break.

Spanish nights come alive with “La Isla Bonita” performed here by Chevonne Reels, Shannon Swartz, Derell Davis, Charlotte Blango, and Nitara Felton. This song became popular in the '80s when recorded by Madonna.
Standing up or sitting down, the Mariner Singers offer a “total” performance with their rendition of “Total Eclipse of the Heart”.

If practice makes perfect, Relaine Reels and Ruth Erwin should be headed for Broadway. Their hard work has proved successful.

Welcome Mr. Montgomery! His vitality, energy, and love of music has hit a high note with East Carteret Mariner Singers and Chorus. His first year at East Carteret High School has been one of fun, learning, and a celebration of music. Once again Mariner Singers and Chorus has something to sing about.

Kiki Johnson, Julie Williamson, and Ruth Erwin struggled with this song’s Latin lyrics, but they were up for the challenge; the proof is in their smiles.

The sophomores are getting hyped up for their chance at winning the spirit stick. They just didn't yell loud enough. The homecoming pep rally spirit stick went to the seniors.

"You got to be smooth" to step with Kiki Johnson and the Princess of Ruth. The step team performed at the Black History assembly Feb. 17. The student body really enjoyed watching them perform this year at games and assemblies.

"Allez, Allez!" Mrs. Raines cajoles her French students to sing loudly at the Christmas assembly. Although few in number the students belted out a medley of French carols, much to their teacher's delight.

Mary Catherine Brake, Erin Chadwick, Anna Fansler, and Hillary Gaskill proudly repeat the Beta pledge after president, Christina Tosto. Congratulations inductees.

The marching Mariners are always willing to play their best whenever we need them. Jacob Ashworth, Jarret Piner, and Jay Daniels play their saxophones in deep concentration at the Christmas assembly.
STUDENTS AT ASSEMBLIES

One of the most enjoyed activities at East Carteret are the assemblies. Assemblies are a time where the whole student body has the privilege to sit together, whether in the gym or in the auditorium and enjoy well organized activities. On top of that, we get out of school early!

The first assembly that was held was the homecoming pep rally. The cheerleaders did an excellent job performing and getting the students pepped up. The students were separated according to class to compete for the spirit stick. The seniors were definitely pumped because they won the spirit stick with the least amount of students yelling.

The Thanksgiving assembly was held to receive food and money that was collected for the Hope Mission Soup Kitchen. The Mariner Singers and the Chorus did an excellent job singing. Our school can always be counted on to help when there are people in need.

The seniors lead the Christmas assembly in singing "This Little Light of Mine." Others who sang include: the French and Spanish students, the Mariner Singers and the Chorus. All of the homerooms were very generous in bringing gifts for Project Christmas Cheer. Mrs. Hannula's homeroom, 10-8, won the party for bringing in the most gifts. Mrs. Becky Walker's homeroom, homeroom, 11-1, won second. Mrs. Miller was an outstanding Santa Claus.

Mrs. Pauline Walker and the Black History Club organized the Black History Assembly. Members of the club recited a variety of information about African-Americans who have made major impact on the world today. The Princess of Ruth step team also performed at the assembly. They were very exciting and the audience loved them.

Beta Club inductions were held in the auditorium for the whole student body March 12th. Thirty five juniors and one senior were inducted.

National Art Honor Society (NAHS) inductions were held the night of March 25th in the auditorium. The pledge was recited by the president, Kate Hughes and repeated by the new and the old members. Others who read were vice president, Ty Leatherman, Secretary, Marissa Smith, Historians, Margaret Newman and Cassie Kirby-Smith, and members, Nathaniel Haskovec, and Becky Kappel. New members received the society flower, red carnations, and there was a reception afterwards.

The senior class proudly let their "Little Lights Shine" at the Christmas assembly. Careful not to light anyones hair on fire, they all sat together sharing their Christmas joy.
An Event to Remember

This year's homecoming events were very unconventional. The homecoming parade, scheduled to be on Halloween, was postponed until the 2nd of November. Even though the parade was postponed because of inclement weather, the football game went on as scheduled, rain and all. After the parade, the decision of when and where to have the homecoming ceremony had to be made.

The scheduled game for homecoming was the last home football game between East and South West Onslow. Dr. McReynolds had to decide when to have the ceremony, and there were no more football games. The ceremony needed to be on an occasion where many people would gather to view the beautiful girls and the handsome boys waiting patiently with their escorts to find out who would be crowned King and Queen. The decision was made to have homecoming during the first basketball game on November 25th. Thanks to the Student Council's planning and hardwork, the halftime show went smoothly and beautifully.

Terrance Henry and Gary Nolan cruise down Front Street during the parade in Jason Vann's ride. These two best friends ran against each other for the prize of the '98 Homecoming King. Although neither of these guys were crowned king, they were both honored to be nominated.
Amy Davis and Dana Hadder, two best friends, ride together in a Chrysler Seabring along with Amy’s sister, Dana Davis. Amy and Dana were proud to sit together on the back of a beautiful car and show Beaufort their stuff.

Victoria Eli, Paula Lewis, Casey Anderson, and Stephanie Morris ride proudly on the Sophomore’s homecoming float. Their main prop, the twin horses, was stolen by the Juniors with only a ransom note left in their place. When the class of 2000 finally retrieved the horses, they were able to complete their float in time to ride in the delayed parade.

Ashley Lawrence, one of the ‘98 Homecoming King Representatives, cruises down Front Street in a phat Mazda Miata. During the ceremony, Ashley was escorted by his ecstatic mother. This was a great occasion for a proud mother to be time with her son.

Seniors at Renea Kelly’s house, show off their “cammies” as they prepare to go to war with the juniors. Before the night was over, there were many eggs thrown and many battle wounds and the seniors were missing tombstones.

Nice outfit Lori! Sue Anne Lewis, David Jones, Asher Willis, Ashley Best, and Lori Willis ride in the back of Benji Taylor’s truck during the Homecoming Parade.

The juniors proudly displayed the senior tombstone that they “ganked” during the egg war. Their very well planned strategy was to distract the seniors and sneak into Renea Kelly’s garage where they claimed the senior tombstones for themselves.

WHAT CAME FIRST: THE FLOAT OR THE O?

Half the fun of homecoming is the making of the class floats. Many students from all classes met to help create a winning float. This year the seniors and the juniors tied for first place and the sophomores took second place. One of the traditions during float preparation is egg fighting. The juniors and seniors met in Renea Kelly’s field and went to war. Both sides put up a good fight and had fun. Through all the fun, all the classes still finished their floats in time for the regular scheduled parade. Due to rain everyone had to wait to display their wonderful floats until the parade was rescheduled. Postponing the parade disappointed the many students who worked hard to finish their floats in time. This year every class worked hard and had fun working on their magnificent floats.

Junior, Benji Taylor, sports his firefighter outfit in preparation for the egg war. In just a couple of hours his bright yellow jacket was covered in egg yolks!

Senior friends, Ty Leatherman and Cassie Kirby-Smith, show just how much fun they are having working on the float.
You Can’t RAIN On Our Parade

The homecoming parade took place on Front Street on November 3, the Monday after what was supposed to be the homecoming game on October 31. This was a disappointment to many homecoming reps., students, and family, since the parade took place after the game when everyone already knew the outcome. The football team lost in terrible conditions against Southwest Onslow. This year’s homecoming was very confusing, but in the long run everything was pulled off beautifully. Even though all the floats were supporting a Mariner victory, the classes still displayed their floats proudly. All the homecoming reps., were excited to ride down Front Street and show off their “phat” rides. All in all, the parade turned out to be a huge success.

Senior Class Rep., Randi Bell, sports in a sweet 98’ Porsche. Randi was proud to represent the senior class. Way to go Randi!!

Matthew Hill cruises on the freshman float in the homecoming parade. A lot of hard work was put into the creation of this float; many dedicated freshman put in a lot of time and effort.
HOMECOMING

Court

Leah Hancock is the Drama Club rep. She has been performing in plays & musicals all four years she has been attending ECHS. On the Homecoming court she was voted a club rep.

Tracey Vann was nominated as the JV Cheerleading rep. She accepts flowers for club rep. on the Homecoming court. Malcom Vann Jr., her brother, is escorting Trace tonight. "It was an honor for me to be selected by the cheerleading squad to represent them in the homecoming of '97. From this honor, it gave me the privilege to be one of the candidates in the queen's court. For this I will be grateful forever."

Brandy Sanders is representing the Junior class. Tammy Fulcher being a good friend is supporting Brandy as she rides in the parade. Brandy gives her radiant smile & peppy attitude to all the parade watchers. She won 1st runner-up for Homecoming queen. "I didn't think I would get it. I was really surprised that I was chosen for 1st runner-up."

Becky Kappel, a senior, is representing the Student Council. She is obviously excited to be in the parade. In the voting results, she won 2nd runner-up for queen.

Molly Wheatly, a Freshman class rep., is being chauffeured by Beau Gunn and Chuck Powell. She was the 3rd runner-up in the Homecoming ceremony.
King and Queen

El Nino hasn't only affected California and Indonesia, but it has affected East Carteret. On October 31 the Homecoming events were scheduled, but Mother Nature intervened. She caused the Homecoming parade and ceremony to be postponed, but the football game was still played on the wet, soggy field. The parade was rescheduled for the following Monday and November 25 would be the Homecoming ceremony. Unlike previous years, the ECHS gym was the venue for the Homecoming ceremony. It was quite different in that it was held in between two basketball games instead of at halftime on the football field. Desmond Garners and Luv Mayers are the Homecoming king and queen. They were both Senior class reps. "I voted for Desmond because he's really nice," said Crystal Penny. "Luv is friendly and she is a person you can talk too," exclaimed Chetonne Reels. Despite the terrible weather that caused the postponement, everyone worked together to make it a huge success.

SENIOR REPS.

How did you feel about being a Senior Rep?

Ashley- "I really didn’t feel comfortable, but I did it for my parents." Loretta- “I felt honored to be nominated to represent my Senior class of 1998.”
Jason Vann (J-Boogie), is just chillin' on the activity bus on his way to Kenansville. This was the Varsity boys 1st round of the Eastern Conference. Jason was a key player for the Varsity boys basketball team. Many students at East Carteret spent many hours on activity buses.

Elaina Piner, Marissa Smith, Ty Leatherman, Amy Davis, and Dana Hadder, all Seniors, like to chill at It's Fashions. This group of girls are best of friends and will continue to be forever. Needless to say these guys didn't buy their shades: they were broke!

Smiling Seniors capture a lunch moment on film. Mary Stephenson, Regan Brown, Lindsay Styron, Oliver Block, and Loretta Wells sat together every day during 1st lunch (2nd semester).

Desmond Garner chats with his friends after just eating his lunch. Lunch is a special time when students could sit together and talk, or for some, cram just a little more before that big test.
Cora Johnson, Trish Vann, Chevonne Reeds, Lamar Jones, and Daniel Johnson on the way back from Currituck. Hanging out on the charter bus was a good time for the Varsity basketball teams and cheerleaders. They really enjoyed each other laughing, clowning, and joking on the long trip.

Chris Gillikin poses in the halls of ECHS. Apparently Chris forgot that he should have been hanging out in class instead.

Kiki Johnson (Mr. Black), Ty Leatherman, and Charles Nolan catch a quick meal in McDonald's in Edenton. Kiki was always excited to get to McDonald's where he could get some grub.

Where is Ty Leatherman going with Levar Fisher’s cheeseburger? Showing off her stolen prize, Ty hid it from her friend in her jacket. Levar claimed his burger after a hilarious chase in the parking lot. Who says away games are no fun?

Watching Kiki Johnson get ice cream crammed in his face, Lori Willis and Lauren Rimmer share a quiet moment after the game. Lori and Lauren have known each other since 9th grade. The two met each other playing softball. When these two friends hang out on the way to ballgames, they are usually heard fussing.

HANGING OUT 25
What does being a SENIOR mean?

New challenges, good times, money, scary experiences, college applications, SAT scores, money, eager anticipation, close friendships, fond memories, sad realizations, saying good-bye, and more MONEY are just a few expressions that explain the everyday life of a senior. This year's senior class was like no other. It took a while for everybody to realize that this was the end. Ordering invitations and memory books in the cafeteria made it really hit home. College applications were coming in and going out everyday, while the wait for an answer was mind boggling. The Christmas assembly was an occasion to be remembered. The senior class carried candles and sang to the whole school.

The new year was filled with many obstacles such as passing 1st semester classes and taking exams. A new semester was right around the corner and many decisions had to be made. Grades were a major focus for most of the seniors because college was not far away. Senior class mascots, mottos, flowers, and songs all had to be chosen with much ado. Time was running out and the senior class was very behind. Many seniors were upset with the decisions but there was no more time. Once again, reality sunk in and they realized that it was really their year to shine. The senior class of 1998 is one that will never be forgotten and one that will overcome any obstacles set in their path.

Another first place float is in the works for this year's homecoming parade. A group of hard working seniors relax after hours of newspaper stuffing. Renea Kelly's garage was covered with newspaper, paint and excited seniors. The float turned out to be a big success and won the seniors their fourth first place finish.

Kate Hughes, Stacey Dunn, and Deidre Austin enjoy another day at lunch. Fortunately, today was a good day and there were no nasty food fights. The girls are ready for a different variety next year when they go off to college.

A group of senior friends get together after a wonderful Christmas assembly. Assemblies always seem to put a smile on everyone's face. This assembly was extra special for the seniors who carried candles and sang "This Little Light of Mine."

The senior class will be remembered as...

"True soldiers" (ChristyS.), "Unique individuals" (LateshecaW.), "Class clowns" (Luv M.), "Always ruling East and being on top" (Denaca M.), "Breaking all the rules" (Elaina P.), "The most athletic as well as full of variety and mischief" (Deanne S.).
Tiffany Hancock and Felisa LeMay sit outside the cafeteria during lunch everyday. They’d rather sit and chat than enjoy a “good” lunch. This bench is their favorite place to hang out during the lunch hour.

Best friends, Renea Kelly and Ty Leatherman pose for a quick shot at competition. The girls are eagerly waiting to perform with the other cheerleaders at ECU. As it turns out, the cheerleaders did an outstanding job and took home a first place trophy.

Christina Tosto
Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.
-Proverbs 27:1

The Who's Who of student at East Carteret are chosen by the faculty in the spring. Students are nominated based on the scholarship, leadership, participation, and character. It is our hope that the chosen student remember this honor in their futures, and continue to set good examples in their lives.
“Left, Right,” was all that was heard from the junior and senior boys 4-man partner board teams. The senior team of Levar Fisher, Patrick Bell, Jason Vann, and Martin Stewart won for their class to add six more points to the board.

Junior and senior girls compete against each other in the two-man partner board race. This event was worth six points to the junior class when Tia Roberts, Tracey Peterson, Cassandra Newkirk, and Star Simmons won.

Mrs. Kappel looks on as field day continues with Decayo Murray, Jason Vann, Tim Smith, and Terrance Henry. These guys are taking a break now but later, fiercely competed in the tug-o-war.

“This year’s Jr/Sr field day brought back to tradition what had been lost for at least twelve years. The class of ‘98 sponsored this event with the hope that it could be successful and again become a yearly opportunity for upperclassmen to celebrate and have some fun! It worked! We had a great time and the winning Class of ‘99 promises to continue this new tradition,” -Mrs. Kappel

After the partner board race the senior guys walk off the field as Levar Fisher stays back to talk “junk” with the losing junior team. This group of guys also won the three-legged race for the senior class.

Lindsay Styron is one of the proud recipients of the Academic Honors Scholarship. Mrs. Wanda Gaskill also presented this honor to Jodie Daniels and Becky Kappel.

At graduation, the senior class officers presented their class gift to the school. Their gift was 2 lighted, glass-enclosed display cases which will be hung on the walls of the school lobby. These cases will be used to recognize student achievement in the form of plaques, framed pictures, and other awards.

Valedictorian of the class of 1998, Christina Tosto says farewell to her fellow classmates.

“Is it over….or is it?” Seems that some of the seniors were unsure when it was “safe” to toss their hats, signaling the end of their high school career at East.

Graduation speeches have been a tradition at East Carteret for many years. Typically, the principals and the class sponsor select which speeches will have the honor of being delivered on graduation night. Speeches are written on the theme of the class song or class motto. For this year’s graduating class, both the motto and song spoke of living each of life’s moments to the fullest.
...is never easy, especially when one has invested years in others’ lives. Some of the seniors have been together in school since kindergarten. Others only met as recently as the past few years. Whatever the case, friendships were made here at East Carteret that will never be forgotten. Memories created that will continue on in the hearts and minds of those who lived them.

Graduation is not just a time to say good-bye though. The exercises are called “commencement” for a very good reason. While the seniors are finishing one part of their lives, they are at the same time beginning a new, very exciting one. The paths that each person will follow are different but with the wishes of their teachers, parents, and friends their paths will be bright and full of promise.

I’LL FORGET YOU THEN
When roses bloom in winter, and the snow-flakes fall in June;
When the sun comes out at midnight, and the moon shines bright at noon;
When rivers cease to flow downward, and two times two is ten;
When joy turns into sorrow, I’ll forget you then.

When the northern lights stop glowing, and the rainbow turns to brown;
When Mt. Everest is level, and things fall up not down;
When the sky disappears, and is never seen again;
When the world stops turning round, I’ll forget you then.

When it floods in the desert, and the oceans all go dry;
When right turns into wrong, and to laugh means to cry;
When the wind forgets to blow, and happiness is a sin;
When all the stars go out; I’ll forget you then.

Dr. McReynolds congratulates one of the two senior recipients of the prestigious Thomas Holmes Carrow Scholarship. Jarrett Stryon was the honored senior.

“The strength of a wave as it rolls to the shore…” Vira Brodner, Crystal Cantrell, and Regan Brown sing the Alma Mater for the last time as students of East Carteret High School.
B.J. puts final touches on the castle in which he worked so diligently for a week. Eventhough the castle was standing prom night, the juniors had a hard time keeping the castle standing during the week.

After discussing, Mr. Frazier, Benji Taylor, and Mr. Weeks decide how to fix the gossamer on the donut. Without the help of these fine men, the ceiling wouldn't have looked so spectacular.

Beth Thomas dedicates her time to work on the gazebo on the last night of decorating. She was one of the many students that spent her time working on the prom.

Lori Willis, Rachel Nelson, Brandy Sanders, and Leanne Chadwick try to figure out how to piece together the archway. It took many hours, but the four managed to get it together.

EARTHLY WORK... HEAVENLY fun

Mary Catherine Brake and Lisa Knox puts lights on the last tree in the house. These girls took much time out of their week to spend working on the junior-senior prom. Along with these two juniors, others came out during the week to help also. Even though the juniors had to overcome many obstacles they managed to make the prom memorable.
CLOSE TO Heaven

The theme of the prom this year was Close To Heaven. The prom was decorated with a beautiful castle and heavenly clouds. The juniors put a lot of time and effort into preparing this for the seniors. The DJ this year was John Drake. He played all kinds of music from disco to popular hits of today. At ten o'clock, the king, queen, prince, and princess were announced. After their dance, the seniors enjoyed their senior walk around the gym. The prom ended about twelve o'clock and most of the participants turned back into their regular selves and went on their different ways.

Aleena Fisher, Rasheeda Taylor, Patrick Bell, and Chris Vann

This year Ashley Lawrence and Becky Kappel were elected prom king and queen by those who attended the prom. Jon Morris and Brandy Sanders were crowned prince and princess. They danced to “My Heart Will Go On.”

Loretta Wells and Graham Arthur take a seat after a long night of dancing. They both had a good time at their senior prom.
Before the prom Michelle Salter, Jamie Dickinson, Abby Hastings, and Mary Stephenson enjoy a game of pool at Royal James. They are all dressed up and ready to attend the prom.

Martin Stewart “gets jiggy with it” at the prom this year. He shows his stuff as he prepares for a long night of fun and dancing.

Domaine Reels and Trish Vann stop for a moment to catch their breath. Trish said the evening was a lot of fun and she enjoyed it.

Jarett Styron and Penny Ward enjoy a moment together at their last prom. They have remained together for all four years of high school, so this prom was very meaningful.

Senior friends Amy Davis, Dana Hadder, Ty Leatherman, Cassie Kirby-Smith, Renea Kelly and Marissa Smith pose in front of the castle. This year’s prom was extra special for this group of close friends.
Movin' On Up

The juniors had a very exciting '97-'98 school year. Before Homecoming, the juniors and seniors had a very competitive egg fight. The Beaufort cops were called on the juniors many times because the neighbors of the "war zone" were stressin' over their yards. The juniors tied with the seniors for 1st place on the Homecoming float.

Many hours were spent working on the prom, "Close to Heaven." Class dues were paid by all prom attendees to pay for materials. The gym was decorated in blue and white with castles and clouds.

For the junior-senior field day, Mrs. Kappel congratulated the juniors for a "smashing victory." The final score was 104-82. Hopefully, the class of 1999 will win the 2nd annual field day as well.

Lamar Jones chills during Mr. Montford's PE II class. He enjoys being a junior, but is excited about being a senior next year.

Domaine Reels is a Junior Class Favorite. He goes around and likes to have fun. We caught him in-between classes doing the usual: making us laugh.

Tanya Best works up a sweat at Band Camp and attempts to shy away from the camera.
Shelli Malnati, Micah Futch, and Ashley Best research carbons-and-elements for Ms. Schooley. Micah was really tired and wasn’t up to school work.

This year juniors were told they would no longer have senior flex. This was a privilege many juniors looked forward to when they became seniors either to go to work or get a much needed break. We asked some of the juniors for their opinion and here is what they said:

"I think we should have it for those students who have all their credits." -- Tracey Peterson

"I think we should have it because we need a break." -- Beau Gunn

"I think we need it to calm our harsh senior schedule." -- G.W. Fulcher
Being a junior brings many new things to look forward to like being inducted into Beta Club, being one year closer to a senior, and driving to school. One of the favorite times for juniors is the prom. We asked some juniors to share the best thing about being a junior.

Freshmen year we learned about each other. Sophomore year we learned a little more about ourselves. We’re sharing the same experiences, the excitement of drivers ed., the fear of failing the Drivers License Test, school exams, and peer pressure. Yet, we are already beginning our separate journeys. Our junior year is already upon us and senior year will suddenly be here. Our footsteps in life are firmly planted with the goals our parents and teachers have given to us. We strive to become a better person, a better generation, a better world. So let us enjoy the days of our youth knowing the responsibilities of tomorrow.

My Comforting Words to You

I was a friend of many, and I will always be;
But my Lord has called me to be with Him you see;
So now I'm safe, in no more pain,
and all I have is His love to gain;
So don't you worry,
don't shed a tear, for it's the strength of your hearts that will always keep me near;
Put your mind at ease, and put your hearts at rest, and remember always, that the Lord knows best.

written by Nina George, in loving memory of my sister and closest friend
The loss of a friend is truly a sad thing -
You begin to question your faith looking for someone to blame.

There is a period of mourning - as sadness rules your life
But you realize you must go on - but still remember her in your life.

The days are a little easier - remembered times are still very sad.
Thinking she should be here with you, still missing her really bad.

-- Lena Cook

My Friend

At first I couldn’t accept it.
My heart denied the truth.
I once questioned God’s intentions,
Because I didn’t know what else to do.
I still have the memories of you.
And your smile that shined so bright,
But not being able to see you again
Fills me with unexplained fright.
The reasons you were taken from this earth
May never become quite clear;
But I know you are in safe hands,
Somewhere peaceful, away from here.
Death is a hard thing to face
But someday in heaven I’ll be with you again.
Until then just know I’ll miss you so much.
The joy in my life...my friend.

-- Elaina Piner
A New Beginning

The Freshman year can be one of the most difficult times in your life. You have to learn to adjust to this new life. You'll have more freedom which means more responsibility, and more friends which means you have to become more mature. To have more freedom you must have your priority straight, in order to succeed. The freshman class has excelled in these fields and have achieved the respect they desire. Some people think the things they do now will have no effect on their future. Well guess what, your wrong, if you goof off your freshman year it can really hurt you in the future. What will you do when it's the day of graduation and your sitting in the audience watching your friends on the stage and your thinking "that should be me". If you would have taken your years at East seriously you would be up their, too. So, your freshmen through your senior years can be the most important times in your life.

Matthew Hill, Josh Gillkin, and Lem Hardy are doing a lab in Mrs. Schooley's Intro. to Chemistry and Physics class on specific heat. Matthew said it was a hard class but he enjoyed the teacher.

Is Kelly Brushwood really trying out for the tennis team? No, she's just in Woolridge's Health and P. E. class.
The freshman class is very proud of Molly Wheatly & Katie Daniels for their representation on the Homecoming court.

Carla Fulcher, Jessie Juul, & Amber Cannon just finished a gruesome one-half mile run for Mrs. Woolridge’s class. “It was windy & cold out,” said Amber. “She really should have let us stay inside.”

Joey Harker says the Mental Edge program helps the class study for Mr. Lapointe’s Civics end-of-course test. Guess anything is better than being in class.

Kari Willis & Sam Bell work on the bulletin board for Mrs. Barker. Her Latin classes wrote dreams & then a nightmare which ruined the dream. Ex. Publishers Clearing House knocks on my door—to ask for directions.
Alison Vick and Lacey Yeomans work together on their computer project. Computers play a big part in most of the classes and in the students' work at East.

Brittany Tosto concentrates on her music during the halftime show. The show this year had a Western theme. Brittany keeps the beat even while the girls dance around her.
Chris Kraszeski shows his strength during PE. Chris and the rest of the class have to get ready for the field testing given to all 9th graders.

Tracina Williams delivers her Spanish I class presentation on a Spanish speaking country. In this class, Mrs. Topping taught the basics of the Spanish language; unfortunately she left after 1st semester, to the dismay of her students.

1998 has been a very interesting year for faculty members. There have been many changes with staff and with programs. ECHS was glad to welcome some new faces to the faculty and some new programs. Some of these new faces included Michael Brucato, Susan Slack, Travis Montgomery, Suzanne Jenkins, Clinton Montford, Tammy Schooley, Kevin Short, and Jeff Strong. This has also been a final year of teaching at ECHS for some teachers including Jorja Barker, Henry Croom, Gail Bottoms, Travis Montgomery, and Bryan Peterson. They will surely be missed by everyone at ECHS.

Touch—to touch a student’s heart and mind is to show them that they are there to not only teach but to love.

Educate—education is the key to a successful and enjoyable future and to educate is to unlock all the doors that were always thought to be locked.

Accomplish—to teach is to accomplish a great goal: to prepare students to face the world with high hope and confidence. This is an incredible accomplishment.

Create—in order to teach one has to create an environment, a program, an attitude, and a love that will be beneficial to all students.

Help—patience and tolerance as well as love and devotion help to mold a child’s future into something incredibly beautiful.

Carol Clayton and Barney Barker enjoy a quick break during practice for the spring musical. Their many hours of hard work and dedication made for an excellent show of lively and moving music.

Clinton Montford flashes his winning coach’s smile while taking a break after school. As the boys varsity basketball coach and P.E. teacher it’s not often that he’s seen actually sitting down.

See, history isn’t so bad. At least not for Michael Brucato who puts together lesson plans with ease.
Pauline Walker, a world history teacher, proudly teaches students the historical aspects of cultures around the world. She makes her classes very interesting and enjoyable; sometimes exciting.

A picture is worth a thousand words. "I made a great shot on this pintail and Buck (his dog) made an even better retrieve," boasts Bill Dillon, assistant principal.

What an exciting football game! Patsy Carver, varsity cheerleading coach and teacher, enjoys the game while watching over her spirited girls.

The students at ECHS never cease to amaze Dr. Mary Jane McReynolds, principal of ECHS. Pleased by the student athletes' performance, she applauds them during a home basketball game.

Dedication, dedication, dedication! Suzanne Jenkins, Spanish teacher, shows that all it takes is a little time and patience to give students, like Jack Booth, a helping hand in learning difficult material.

Clockwise from top: Mrs. Gillikin when she was a young girl taking her first communion; then in high school as a senior at ECHS; as a college student at ECU; as a young woman in her 20s; at home with her family; and finally as we know her: a dedicated and caring teacher always willing to listen and give help to those who need it.

1997 Teacher of the Year
Kathy Gillikin

Kathy Gillikin was voted teacher of the year by her fellow colleagues at ECHS Carteret. There are many reasons why the students at East would also agree that she is deserving of this honor. Mrs. Gillikin is known for being a caring teacher, one who seeks to find the best in her students and who is not afraid to give of herself and her time.

Kathy Gillikin was born into a family of six children and has lived in a number of interesting places including Germany, Georgia, Ohio, Turkey, and Fayetteville, NC. She has also lived in three different towns called Smyrna: the Biblical town now called Izmir in Turkey, Smyrna, Tennessee, and also our own Smyrna, North Carolina.

Mrs. Gillikin graduated from ECHS in 1974 where she was an active but quiet student. Interestingly enough, she was closed out of art classes until her senior year of high school. She always had an interest in art and drawing from a young age. Along with several other members of her senior class, she helped to paint the enormous mural in the cafeteria which she intends to refurbish this summer. She then continued her education at East Carolina University where she finished with an art degree and a certification to teach. After graduation, she married her high school sweetheart of eight years Rocky Gillikin and returned to East Carteret to teach.

Twenty years and two children later, Mrs. Gillikin continues to teach. When asked about her philosophy of teaching, she stated simply, "Every student is good." She believes that a teacher's job is to find the good in every student and to nurture it. She openly admits to using art to teach kids today, giving them an outlet where they can express their feelings.

This teacher of the year loves teaching and has no plans to retire early. She continues to spend her summers coming up with new ideas and planning for the upcoming school year. Mrs. Gillikin resides in Owings with her husband, two children Joshua and Matthew (who also share her artistic talent), and an assortment of adored pets.
1998 East Wind Dedication
Custodial Staff

After much consideration, the staff decided to dedicate this copy of the East Wind to our custodial staff. Upon doing a little research it was easy to see why they deserved such an honor.

Who else do you know that works around the clock doing every kind of job imaginable just to keep our school looking its best? Out of a staff of six people, five are here all day every day and one person, Mr. Roy Murray works late into the night most days of the week.
The janitors do every kind of job you could imagine. According to Mr. Roy Murray, “We do anything that needs doing and then some!”
From cleaning bathrooms and supplying them with fresh supplies to fixing broken windows and mowing grass, our custodial staff is here to serve. In the summers they spend much of their time cleaning all the classrooms and floors in the building. Cleaning the classrooms is a tedious, dirty job. Each room must be cleaned from top to bottom, starting with the light fixtures. They dust every window and fixture and then proceed to “strip” the floors of old wax treatments. Only after 2 coats of acrylic floor sealer and 2 coats of wax are applied are the floors high-speed buffed to a gleaming shine. This process must be repeated for every classroom in the school as well as the hallways, offices, and the cafeteria and must all be finished before students and teachers return to school in the fall.

Mr. Ed Murrell, head custodian, has been at East Carteret for twenty-nine years and has seen every change that has occurred at this school. He has worked for four different principals. When asked why he has been here so long, he stated, “I’m here because of the kids; I like helping them and doing things for people. I like making people smile.” He certainly has accomplished that in his time here. His future plans are to retire, perhaps in the coming school year.

Whatever his plans, he will be remembered and appreciated as will all the custodial staff. Thank you for all you have done and continue to do!

-East Wind Staff

Counterclockwise from top: Mr. Ed Murrell,
Mrs. Alice Murrell, Mrs. Janie Collins, Mr.
Isaiah Murray, Mr. Woody Riggins, and Mr. Roy Murray. The 1998 East Wind staff, after a unanimous vote, decided to dedicate this year’s book to our dedicated custodial staff who work diligently to keep the school and grounds looking Mariner proud.
CRACK THE BOOKS

Each year students come to school prepared for another year of rigorous learning. The teachers must organize a curriculum that will help the students learn a great deal, but also keep them interested. The state expects the teachers to maintain or improve on their end-of-course tests every year. This puts the teachers under a lot of pressure to motivate their students. In return, the students are rewarded not only with recognition throughout the year but also with a better education.

This year computers were a major part of the curriculum. Computers were used to make projects, research topics, type papers and much, much more. The computer lab was full almost everyday so the students could have hands-on experience. A software program called Hyperstudio was used greatly by the students to create presentations for their class. This helped students not only learn about their subject, but also learn a great deal about computers. In this fast advancing world, computer knowledge is an absolute necessity. With the help of computers, administrators, counselors, and teachers, students leave East Carteret with more knowledge and a greater amount of confidence in themselves.

Vice president, Lindsay Styron gives a speech on the key of success at the Beta Club inductions. The inductions were held on March 12th in the auditorium. Many students were invited to join the Beta Club because of their excellent grades.

Becky Kappel, Deanne Salter, Kim Guthrie, Lindsay Styron and Tenea Shelton hold certificates they received for being nominated Distinguished Young Women by the Carteret County Council for Distinguished Young Women.

On Right - Charles Murrell, Amanda Durham, and Leona Jenkins assist Dr. Lenker with his purchase at the new student store. They all helped make this year's store a big success by volunteering before school and during lunch to help out.
Becky Kappel and Jarett Styron help young students make God's eyes at the Education Fair. The fair was held at the Civic Center in Morehead City on March 27th. They made these as a way of learning about Spanish culture.

Danielle Riley and Tracey Vann study slides during Mrs. Waters' biology class. Mrs. Waters and many other science teachers used these view finders to assist their students with different material.
THE BEST OF THE BEST

Being in the Beta Club is a great honor. To be inducted, you must have at least a 3.5 GPA and a 90 numerical average. All of the members have achieved the 4 keys which is the basis of being a member: achievement, character, leadership, and scholarship.

This year, the Beta Club members sponsored a Cystic Fibrosis walk-a-thon, cleaned up the English courtyard, and many other events. Mrs. Wanda Gaskill, the senior English teacher, is the Beta Club sponsor. Mrs. Gaskill, along with all members, worked very hard to keep the Beta Club and honor and a privilege. As the seniors say their farewell and go off to begin fulfilling their goals, the new members will take their place in keeping the club as excellent as it was the year before.

Rebekah Dixon walks proudly as she hands Chris Hopkins his certificate into the Beta Club. Chris stands with a smile on his face and welcomes the honor.

Tricia Mason, a presiding member, congratulates Kate Hughes, the only senior being inducted into the Beta Club, with a certificate of induction. Kate had to raise her GPA and keep it high all year in order to be inducted.

Christina Tosto, the Beta Club President, welcomes the student body to the Beta Club induction ceremony. This ceremony introduces the new members to the expectations and requirements of the club.
The East Carteret chapter of the National Art Honor Society is sponsored by Mrs. Kathy Gillikin. To become a member of the society one must be at least a sophomore with a ninety or above average in art and an overall average of at least an eighty-five in all other classes. The 1997-'98 officers were: president--Kate Hughes, vice president--Ty Leatherman, secretary--Marissa Smith, and historians--Cassie Kirby-Smith and Margaret Newman. To remain a member, the student's grades must always meet the induction requirements, and, in addition, the student must be an active member. To be considered an active member one must attend at least one meeting a month (meetings are held every other Wednesday) and participate in related activities. Some activities include: the annual sand castle building contest, International Day, academic fair, and various art shows throughout the year.
Honors in academic excellence is the very focus of East Carteret's Academic Banquet. Students sometimes struggle in attaining the necessary requirements, an 88 overall average or an 85 in each class. But it seems by the many honorees, the struggle is worth it! The Academic Banquet was an evening of awards, delicious dining provided by Marcella's Catering, and a definite feeling of pride from parents and friends.

Mrs. Davis presents Justin Tillet with an award during the Academic Banquet.

Lindsay Styron, Hilary Gaskill, and Mrs. Edith Styron enjoy their meal while waiting for the awards to begin.

Karlyn Salter and Jonathan Peppers look for a Picasso among the art exhibits at the Academic Banquet. The works of Mrs. Gilliland's students traditionally decorate the lobby of the Civic Center for the banquet.

Displaying true Mariner spirit is what cheerleading is all about. This cheer was always a crowd-pleaser, for the fans as well as the girls.

Dribbling down the field, JV soccer player Josh Lewis helps his team get closer to the goal.

Practice makes perfect. Amanda Nelson puts all her effort into practicing her backhand. Like many other athletes, Amanda balances her academic classes with her extracurricular activities such as practicing for the musical and playing tennis.

The best of the best... and everyone knew it after the girls track team defeated 5 other schools at a meet in Pamlico with a score of 125. Tenea Shelton, April Perkins, Hilary Merz, Chevonne Reels, Cora Johnson, Trisha Vann, and Tia Roberts flash a triumphant smile after their victory.
With their own burst of energy and determination, the varsity football team shows their opponents a taste of the defeat yet to come.

Swinging batter! Jodie Daniels puts all her might into her mighty swing. She was only one of the many star players on this year's successful varsity softball team.

Poise and concentration are all that Domaine Reels needs to score 2 more points for East Carteret. After positioning himself under the Pamlico player, he jumped up and made the shot.

Stunting isn't nearly as easy as it looks although flyer Tracey Vann and bases Kendra Murphy, Laura Piner, and Misty Guthrie make it look simple. Teamwork, good communication, and body conditioning are essential requirements for this intense body contact sport.

Sports at East Carteret have always been an important part of student life. Participating in athletics benefits students in many ways. They learn how to work in intense situations with people they may not have known before. Team members must depend on each other as a way of achieving the same goal: victory. Students also learn how to lose...a valuable lesson since life is full of wins and losses. Physical conditioning and keeping in shape are also beneficial to a student's health.

The 1997-1998 school year saw a BURST in growth for women's athletics. The varsity basketball team made it to the second round of play in the conference playoffs until they were defeated by Clinton. The junior varsity basketball team swept the conference with their undefeated record. The girls track team were also conference champions and went all the way to states, breaking school and state records with their incredible speed and ENERGY as well. For it's first year playing fast-pitch, the varsity softball team certainly made themselves known, finishing among the top 7 teams in the state.
Cheerleading lasts throughout the year and takes a lot of dedication. The 1997-1998 JV Mariner Cheerleaders had this dedication. Practicing once a week during June and increasing to two or three times a week during July, is a lot to do during your summer vacation. It takes a special group of girls to dedicate themselves. This year’s squad was made up of five sophomores and eleven new freshman. They went to camp at Spirit Express in Durham for the second year in the row. Two experienced instructors helped them in learning new cheers, chants, stunts, and two dances. It was a great experience for everyone. Lisa Raines, the JV coach, said “Everyone had a wonderful time and worked well together; I could tell then that we were going to have a great year.” Mr. Mark Lyckowski came from Spirit Express to create the girls’ competition. Many hours were spent at Beaufort Elementary School trying to perfect their competition routine. They went to the Coastal Plains 2A Cheer-Off and the East Carolina Cheer/Dance Competition, and performed very well both times. Although the girls failed to place at competition, they have every reason to feel proud of their performances and of the cheering season they spent together.

RIGHT: Practice Makes Perfect! Katie Daniels and her stunt group practice on one of their competition stunts. This difficult stunt took a lot of practice to accomplish, but they succeeded in performing it time and again. The stunt was created by Mark Lyckowski, who designed the girls’ competition routine. His help was greatly appreciated!

The JV Cheerleaders pep the crowd up at the Varsity Mariner Girls home game against the Richlands Wildcats. They helped cheer the Varsity Girls into another victory against the Lady Wildcats.
All though the J.V. Football team did not have the best year they worked really hard. The team consisted of mainly young players, and therefore had a lot to learn. They really improved as the year progressed. They gained a lot of valuable experience that will help them a lot next year, whether a junior going to Varsity, or a sophomore remaining on the J.V team.

"Stomp 'N' Grind"... Varsity cheerleaders break it down for students at the homecoming pep rally. The senior class won the spirit stick this year with a mighty roar of voices and spirit.

"YEAH" exclaim flyers Sara Fordham, Margaret Newman, and Brandy Sanders as they soar to the top of this awesome stunt. Everyone had to work together and have perfect timing to put this stunt up. The result was more confidence in stunt building and an impressed crowd.

Another part of cheerleading was the long rides to away games. As long as you had music, like Ty Leatherman, and a good attitude like Dawn Fouts, the rides did not seem as long or boring.
The 1997-1998 season was very successful for East Carteret’s Varsity Cheerleading Squad. They started in the summer with a private camp and training session. During these sessions Brandy Sanders and Renea Kelly were chosen as All-American Cheerleaders, an honor recognizing talented high school cheerleaders. Football season went very well as the cheerleaders adjusted to their new conference. Basketball season was also a success as they gained greater confidence in stunting and using teamwork as a priority. They placed second in the conference competition, performing with injury and illness. But their hard work really paid off, at the East Carolina Cheerleading Championships, where they took first place with a flawless routine full of complicated dance moves, elite stunts, and an abundance of tumbling.

At the Swansboro basketball game the varsity cheerleaders get the crowd involved while doing a liberty pyramid. Even at away games the girls pulled off stunts like this with ease.

"It’s Almost Time..." The varsity cheerleaders display confidence before performing at the ECU Cheerleading Championships. Their confidence combined with talent helped them to win first place.

Anna Fansler shows her spirit while in a full extension. It is often hard to keep a smile like that when there are basketballs flying all around you and your bases. Anna shows just how confident she is.
The 1997 Varsity Football Team put forth great effort both on and off the field. Their record was 6 and 5 and they won the Mullet Bucket for the third year in a row.

When asking Coach Frazier to comment on the boys he said, “I had a very enjoyable season coaching these young men. They were the best group I’ve coached in a long time.”

He also commented that several players have an exceptional talent for playing the game. He is very proud of senior, Levar Fisher, who will play in the East-West All Star game and continue his career at North Carolina State University. Coach Frazier looks back on the past year as being a successful one and he looks forward to years to come.

The 1997 Varsity Football Team

It took much time and dedication for Cassie Kirby-Smith to create the break through banners for the football games. This banner is proudly held by Lisa Knox and Ty Leatherman.

Quarterback, Dustin Daniels finds an opportunity in the game to practice an alternative play called a pitch.
It’s always exciting when the team scores a touchdown, but some players go beyond excited. Levar Fisher praises Martin Stewart when Martin scored a touchdown that helped beat the Swansboro, Pirates.

Levar Fisher always does a stupendous job breaking through the defense. Team members like Nathaniel Haskovec helped give Levar a clear run by keeping the opponents back.

Not only do the boys work hard at practice, but Coach keeps them working right up to game time. It’s time for Stan Figueroa, Guy Vann, Clay Knudsen, Domaine Reels, and Lamar Jones to practice their plays.
Ryan Paerl races down the field with ease. For him the best part of being on the team was working hard with the other team members.

Antonio Oden, Aaron Willis, Paul Stephenson, David Roach, and Jeffrey Penny leave the field after a hard game. Aaron was not allowed to play in this game because of starting the season late, but was sure to play in the next game.

Matt Kenworthy tries to maneuver his way around the opposite team. Matt said that he enjoyed the opportunity of being on the team.

“I’m going to fall on my head!” was the response from Antonio Oden. He said that he didn’t know the guy was under him until it was too late.

A New Way of Doing Things!

The J.V. Soccer team was coached by Jud Kenworthy, Jeff Govoni, and Michael Brucato. The coaches felt that the team had a strong defense but lacked a strong offense; therefore, they had difficulty scoring. The team learned how to be a marking team, or man to man coverage, and greatly improved as the season progressed.

The J.V. team is proud to have had Stephanie Aldebot as a player. Intimidation, by boys, often keeps girls from participating on the team. As a result, we hope that the school will consider starting a girls team in the future.
“KILLER” TEAM

The J.V. Volleyball team broke into a powerful season this fall under their new head coach, Sally Davis. With only 5 returning players, the 10 freshmen girls had to adapt to quick plays and fast moves. With much hard work and dedication, the girls helped bring the season to a successful close. The girls went undefeated in the conference. They were honored with the award of J.V. Conference Champions. Congratulations girls!

TOP-Mary Margaret Way, Lauren Frazier, Rose Nelson, Lyndsay Deuble, Laurel Guthrie; MIDDLE-Lindsey Piner, Kari Willis, Carrie Smith, Cora Johnson, Sheena Oxendine; BOTTOM-Lauren Rimmer, Lyndsey Saulter, Jamie Dickinson, Lyndsay Creech, and Carrie Serjeant

Laurel Guthrie, one of the 10 freshmen, concentrates on making a powerful serve. Her strong performance helped contribute to the 9-2 record season.
Dexter Garner looks like he's in great shape doesn't he. Well I guess their's a good reason for it, he's been playing soccer since he was 5. He also says that he runs, and works out with his older brother Desmond.

Travis Bartram heads the ball to help score the first game. Travis says “I enjoy playing soccer and can’t wait until next year.”
...is the perfect way to describe the season that the Varsity Soccer Team had this year. While winning the majority of their games the team also learned how to deal with defeat. The coaches were particularly pleased with the performances of Dexter Garner, Desmond Garner, Lance Kenworthy, Daniel Govoni, and Josh Loftin. These players helped to motivate the others even when they were behind. They gave words of encouragement and always helped the team through the rough spots. These players were not the only reason for the success of the team; however, it was everyone who gave their time and dedication to making the team great. We would like to say “Thank You” to everyone who helped the team strive to their fullest potential.

J.V. Soccer Team member Patrick Piner says that people like Jason Frivance and other Varsity members teach him how to be a better soccer player.

Josh Loftin, Beau Gunn, Lance Kenworthy, Dexter Garner, Patrick Rose, and Daniel Govoni quench their thirst after a long half with some cool refreshing water.
Jodie Daniels hurries to make a good pass to setter, Ty Leatherman. Ty sets up Lindsay Styron for the kill. Lindsay turned out to be one of their best hitters this year. The girls ended up winning this game against Swansboro on October 7, 16-14, 15-13, 12-15, 15-11.

Smashing the ball across the net, hitter Rachel Nelson warms up before a game with SW Onslow. Tracey Peterson takes time to set her up for a good kill. The team tried really hard and never gave up, but it just wasn’t enough.

Seniors Leah Hancock, Jodie Daniels, and Ty Leatherman take a break after scrimmaging with Coach Gary Chadwick. The Lady Mariners scrimmaged all day at West Carteret in preparation for the upcoming season. The girls played well but also realized there was more work to be done.
"A "SMASHING" SEASON"

The East Carteret varsity volleyball team had a complete season of ups and downs. The Lady's 2-11 record does not show all of the hard work put into the team. The team went into five games in at least eight matches. Most of the time, losing by the minimum of only two points. The Lady Mariners always played hard and were tough competition throughout the season. Heartbreaking losses became an everyday reality for the team. In one particular match, the girls lost to East Duplin in a very exciting game 23-25. The team consisted of six seniors and eight juniors. Although they suffered a disappointing season, the Ladies stayed tight friends. If nothing else, they left the court with their heads up high and a good attitude. The Lady Mariner volleyball team was one to be proud of regardless of their wins and losses.

Coach Chadwick calls a time out during a match against Wallace-Rose Hill on September 9th. The girls try to get it together so they won't suffer another loss. Everyone put up a good effort but Wallace managed to squeak by East.

Setter Ty Leatherman gets ready to serve in a match against Swansboro. Ty scored 7 points in the match that East won 15-8. The girls suffered another close loss 15-8, 10-15, 15-12, 13-15, 11-15. These scores are a good example of the up and down season the team had.

Grueling practices for ECHS Cross Country began on August 11, long before school started. Team members focused on individual improvement. Everyone kept a positive attitude, even though most practices and meets were on 95°+ days. Cross Country required extreme dedication and runners had to be physically and mentally focused for top performance. The size of the team increased dramatically since last year. Many of the teams in our conference did not have a Cross Country course, so many of the meets were held here at East. Team members enjoyed running on trails through the woods because of the shade and the scenery. Only the elite can handle the fast pace and long distance of the 5K (3.1 mile) race. Each team member contributed their whole-hearted effort and made it a great season. The girls got a deserving 2nd in the conference championships and 7th in the regional championships. Jessica Ipock and Lindsey Sauter made all-conference.

East Carteret High School is very proud of its Rifle Team. The team incorporates rifle, shotgun, archery, and hunter skills (a difficult event comprised of game ID, compass course, etc...).

The students who are involved in this sport have shown great skill and talent while learning to be responsible when dealing with weapons. Congratulations on being 3rd in the region!

At the beginning of the season the JV girls basketball team never thought they would be conference champs. It took lots of practice, hardwork, and dedication. As the season progressed the team got better. They finished with an overall record of 9-2 and a conference record of 8-0. Congratulations team, good job!

"I think it was a really great year. We had a really great team."

Charles Nolan shoots over his opponent from Richlands to score 2 of his 28 points. "Too bad you can't go back in time and do things over."

The JV boys basketball team worked hard on the court to obtain an overall record of 10-8. This year the team received new uniforms to make them look sharp on the court. The team practiced everyday to be sure to stay in shape for the season. Their great teamwork led to a conference record of 7-5. "It was wonderful working with these fine young men this season; they gave 100% each day." - Coach LaPointe Leaping over his opponent, Pete Miller scores an easy 2 points in East's victory over Richlands. Pete scored 20 points that game and averaged 16 points a game.

Jason Simmons shoots as Mikie Lindleman watches to catch the rebound. Jason scored 6 points to help secure the victory.

Chris Gillikin sweeps the ball from the hands of his opponents.
Lori Willis (Hori), fights against her opponent Rochell from Pamlico for the rebound. Lori was willing to sacrifice and never let the ball go. This was shown at the end of the season when she received the award for outstanding rebounder.

Chevonne Reeds (Speedy), was a key player to the Lady Mariners. Trish Vann trails in behind Chevonne, to rebound in case she misses. At the end of the season she had a total of 414 points and received best all around and all conference awards at the winter sports banquet.

Leanne Chadwick (“Crip” to the team) shows her aggressiveness as she slides out of bounds to save the ball. Even though she had a rough season dealing with sickness she was still capable of playing basketball.

Trish Vann (Chucki) is driving in to shoot her famous finger roll shot. She was another key player to the Lady Mariners. She helped the team get to the second round of the Eastern Conference playoffs. Besides driving in and grabbing rebounds she was also outstanding defensively.

Lindsay Styron (Phonebook), takes a rare jump shot from outside, and scores two more points for a victory over Richland. Even though she had a shortage of playing time, she complained. At the end of the season she received an award for her unselfish behavior called “Team Before Self.”

The Lady Mariners started the season with a bang which couldn’t be stopped. In the second round of the Eastern Conference play-offs the Lady Mariners huddle in to strategize against the Clinton Dark Horses. Even though they lost, the whole team contributed their talents in many ways. Even the lectures of Coach Edith Styron couldn’t help the team pull through after Clinton’s 12 point lead. The team never lost confidence, and continued to play. The Lady Mariners came back within 2 points of winning. Coach Styron was quoted as saying “This year has been the best year of coaching [the girls] since I started.” Coach Styron, Coach Lawrence, and Coach Davis contributed precious time, hard work, and dedication to the Lady Mariners. The girls was record- 13-11.

Seniors Dustin Daniels and Jason Frivance take a minute to pose with Pete Miller at McDonald's. The boys enjoyed eating as well as all the joking around after the games. This was the last time the guys would get to stop together. They suffered an 81-92 season ending loss to Currituck before stopping in Edenton to grab a bite to eat.

Levar Fisher jumps over a Richlands fender to score a quick lay-up for Mariners. Levar had a good game scoring 7 points in their win over the Wildcat.

Kiki Johnson makes a two point basket for the Mariners. This basket gave the Mariners the lead for good, as they went on to win 75-64.

Domaine Reels, Jason Vann, Kiki Johnson, Coach Montford and Coach Davis sit together after attending the cheerleading competition at ECU. They traveled to Greenville to support the cheerleaders who had cheered for them all season. They had been good luck because the varsity cheerleaders took home a first place trophy.
Sophomore guard Guy Vann goes up for an easy jumper against Wallace-Rose Hill. Guy ended the game with four 3-pointers and a total of 20 points. Although the boys played hard, they lost to the Bulldogs 55-68.

Senior guard Jason Vann warms up before a game with Swansboro. Jason scored a game-high 17 points to lead the Mariners to a 74-60 win.

WHOSE HOUSE?
EAST'S HOUSE!

The boys varsity basketball team had an outstanding season this year. Under the leadership of new head coach Clinton Montford, the boys made it to the state play-offs for the first time in three years. The boys had a winning season with a record of 13-11, 7-5. Although they struggled against the conference and state champions, Wallace-Rose Hill and also East Duplin, they bounced back to win at least one game against every other team in the conference.

As the season progressed, the players developed tight friendships with team members and also varsity cheerleaders. They enjoyed many nights together laughing, joking, and singing on numerous long road trips. The four hour ride to and from Currituck with the cheerleaders and girls varsity basketball team was one that will always be remembered. It was a time for celebrating a great season but also a time for good-byes. The 1997-98 basketball team left behind many great memories and many shoes to fill. As always, the varsity boys basketball team "rocks"!
The JV softball team had an excellent year with a record of 15-3. The team worked hard and practiced everyday, rain or shine. The team outscored their opponents 225 runs to 116 runs. "[This was a] good group of hard working dedicated girls," quotes coach Mike Cruzie. There were several games in which the team committed no errors. As you may have noticed I mentioned the TEAM several times, well this was because Coach Cruzie’s philosophy is all about teamwork. Sounds like Cruzie’s philosophy of teamwork, dedication, and hustle paid off.

Ryan Miller, the 3rd baseman, waits for the next fast play. The batter hit the ball to Ryan giving him the perfect play to 1st base.

Drew Lewis pitches the ball across the plate and strikes the batter out. Drew’s smooth pitches helped the J.V. Mariners have a good season.

The team gathers in a huddle to talk out the plays for the game. The team’s spirit and dedication brought the season to a successful close.

A FRESH START

The J.V. baseball team had a productive season. With only 3 of 14 players returning, the players did a great job learning the quick moves and fast plays. The team also had two new coaches this year, Mr. Chris Golden and Mr. Michael Stafford. They led the team to a final record of 6-4 in conference and 6-6 overall. Congratulations Guys!
"Let's do it!" A tradition of the Lady Mariners was to huddle at the beginning of every inning because they thought it brought them good luck. They huddled and each time they yelled "Defense!" Apparently this tradition helped the team place 1st in the conference for the past 2 years.

Brooke Willis smashes the ball to receive a double to her stats. She was recognized for being the best defensive player for the team with only one error.

Jodie Daniels and Laurel Guthrie work hard on the defensive end, trying to stop Richlands for being tied for 1st place with East Carteret's Varsity Softball team. Even though Richlands beat the girls by 2 runs, the Lady Mariners gave it their best shot. The Lady Mariners had a three-way tie for first place in the conference. After a coin toss the team had the top seat in the conference. The ladies went to the regionals and beat South Alamance and South Columbus but were defeated by St. Paul in the semifinals by one run. At the end of the year 5 players were recognized for having All-Conference standings: senior Jodie Daniels, Kate Hughes, juniors Lori Willis, Kathy Range, and freshman Laurel Guthrie. These girls showed their excellent performance during the season and they were chosen by all the coaches in the conference.
Rachel Nelson, Lori Willis, and Sue Anne Lewis concentrate on the game against Richlands. Even though the game was close, Sue Anne still takes time out to give a smile to the camera. All three of the players were recognized at the end of the season. Rachel has a 3.5 GPA or higher while playing the sport; Lori made All Conference, and Sue was the best offensive player.

Christy Smith tries to miss the ball that almost hits her. She was a very aggressive player for the Mariners. When the ball was thrown short to 1st base, it wasn’t unusual to see Christy doing the splits with one foot on base, making an out.

Mandy Fulcher poses for the camera while still in her catcher’s equipment. She didn’t have much playing time during the season but when she played she was an outstanding catcher.
First baseman, Les Thomas, crouches in place, ready to throw someone out at homeplate.

Jamie Dixon winds up and pitches a fast ball towards a waiting hitter at homeplate.
Desmond Garner demonstrates a textbook perfect slide to 3rd base.

Dexter Garner prepares to snatch up the ball in practice. It takes many hours of practice to bring a team together.

Elishba Collins and Jennifer Arrington concentrating on a victory in the 400m dash run at Camp Lejeune. The best time that Elishba ever had in the 400 meter dash run was 1:14.43, and Jennifer's best time was 1:17.43.

Cora Johnson, Tia Roberts, and Trisha Vann with their consistent first place finishes added points to the board for the girls track team. Cora Johnson improved her jumps during the season and became State Champion at the end with a jump of 18'93/4".

Sophmore Trisha Vann shows her jumping ability of 16'1" while her teammate Cora Johnson looks on. Throughout the season she also improved her speed in taking an outstanding leg in the 400 and 800 meter relay.

Senior Julie Williamson trains by practicing her steps and timing to improve her throwing abilities. Williamson puts all her might into the discus while she launches it 57'5".

Hilary Metz and Carli Lovings are very good friends who contributed and helped the girls track team add points for a victory. Hilary Metz ran the 800 meters at the time of 3:09.2, 1600 meters in 6:58, 3200 meters in 15:20 and a member of the 3200 meter relay. Carli Lovings ran 800 meters in 3:20 and was also a member of the 3200 meter relay.

138 GIRLS TRACK
Junior Tia Roberts is very relaxed as she tries to set a goal before each jump. She asks the Lord to help with her jumps and races. The way Roberts warms herself is by stretches, pop-ups, and short sprints to help her running abilities. Roberts improved her running during the season and became State Champion at the end with a time of 49.72 in the 400 meter relay.

Sophomore April Perkins praises the Lord and asks him to help her running abilities during meets. Perkins broke her own school record in the 400 m. run.

Senior Cheyenne Reels concentrates on her 200 meter dash run. Reels was also a State Champion in the 400 and 800 relay, breaking two school records.

"I really enjoyed track this year and worked hard to improve my performances. The high jump was my best event and made it to the State Championship. I will definitely return next year," says Heather Davis.

Jessica Spock and Stephanie Adebot pose for a picture before they ran the 1400 meters. The two say that they really enjoyed track and met a lot of new friends on the team. The two ladies are very proud of themselves and their performance of the team and will return next year to continue in that success.

The loud mouths of the track team are Sarah Fordham, Heather Davis, Shelli Malhurt, Delena Murphy, and Lauren Freazer who are enjoying themselves at the Conference Meet at East Carteret. The ladies were very interested in track and field and will carry on next year.
After a long workout, David Flynn, Jeff Penny, and Stephen Williamson cool down. They are all long distance runners and were a great contribution to the team.

Oh darn! Coach Frazier Gets a little stressed out about the track meet. Frazier pushed Levar to his limit and he eventually brought home a hard-earned 4th place in shot-put at the State Championships.

“When I throw the discus, it's all about technique and skills. The discus wasn't my favorite event, but I did well.” -- Jon Shepard

Jason Vann finally joined the track team for his senior year and did an outstanding job. He had a steady performance in the high jump, was the #1 long jumper for East, and was also a runner in the 400-meter relay.
At Lejune High School, Domaine Reels prepares for the 3200 meter relay while Kiki Johnson gives him moral support. The other runners in the relay were Davis Flynn, Daniel Johnson, and Tom Frazier. They ended up getting 2nd place in this race.

Sweat

The men’s track team had a lot of new faces this year and still had a wonderful season. The ending record was 19-6. In the conference championship meet, which was held at East and went very smoothly, they were 2nd. In the regional championship meet, they got 7th. Kiki Johnson received the MVP award for track, and Levar Fisher for field. Daniel Johnson was congratulated for trying so many different events; he wanted to do it all. Mr. Frazier came back as Head Coach and Mr. Schafer was Assistant Coach. Having one more coach than usual was very beneficial. Each athlete got more individual instruction. The coaches hope that many of the underclassmen runners return next year.

Senior, Zack Taylor says he “must be crazy to do this.” He was the conference champion, 2nd in Regionals, and went to State in pole vaulting. He has enjoyed his years in high school track and will miss it when he goes to college.
The Making of a Team...

This year the girls tennis team was on the ball constantly. Between games and practices there seemed to be little time for anything else. Also a team developed along the way. Members have to be able to depend on each other during the course of the game. If they can’t then there is no team. So by the end of the season friendships developed as a result of playing tennis that wouldn’t have come about otherwise.

Jennifer Arrington lets the ball fly with one sweeping motion, while a look of concentration crosses her face.

Mary Catherine Brake sends the ball to the other end of the court with a powerful hit. She practiced often to perfect her stroke.

Charlotte Taylor practices her form, so when it comes time to compete, she is ready to help her team score points.
Ray Still prepares to return the ball to the sender. Total concentration is needed for this move because one day the outcome of a game could depend on this move.

The team of Jarrett Styron and Patrick Rose are once again brought together to WOW the opposing team with their great team effort and collaboration. Way to go Guys!!!!

Mikie Richardson uses his strength to hit the ball to the other side of the court where hopefully it won’t be returned.

Jarrett Styron and Patrick Rose try their hand at a game of doubles. This is where the teammates rely on each other to win.

Keeping an Even Balance...

The boys tennis team had a heavy schedule this year. Playing many games back to back took a lot out of the players. Each had to try to balance academics with doing something each individual loved to do. A total of nine home games were played and six away games. The bus ride to the away games gave the boys time to do their homework, so they didn’t get behind in all of their classes. Playing a sport takes lots of dedication from each player as well as the desire to win. This year the tennis team possessed all of these qualities.
Chevonne Reels

Chevonne Reels has excelled and has proved to be a good athlete in several sports. Chevonne played basketball all four years and volleyball for three years but spent her whole high school year concentrating on track. Chevonne was a starter for two years in basketball and volleyball. For basketball, she was All-Conference, Best all Around, and was also All-Tournament for three years. For volleyball, she was the Best Hitter her senior year. For track, she was All-Conference and State Performer for all four years, Most Outstanding Track her senior year, broke state record in the 800 relay, and broke the school record in the 400 and 800 relay her senior year, tied the school record her junior year, was track athlete of the year her junior year, and conference and regional champ her junior year.

Dustin Daniels

During Dustin Daniels' four years at East Carteret he has excelled and been an outstanding athlete. Dustin played basketball, football, and baseball all four years at East Carteret. For baseball, he was All-Conference his senior year. For football, he was Most Valuable Offender and received the Iron Man award his junior year. For basketball, he received the Academic award for the best average on the team his senior year. Dustin also received the Army Scholar-Athlete award.
The 97”-98” school year was FULL of daily activities that needed to be done. Somehow students found a way to SPLIT up their time between school and club activities. Many clubs held after school meetings throughout the year to help RAISE money. FHA for example
The FHA took a trip to Tryon Palace to look at the beautiful Christmas decorations. The trip is taken annually by members to historical house decor.

Every year the FFA sponsors “The Wild Game Feast.” This dinner gives people a chance to be exposed to some things that they might never get a chance to eat otherwise. Bear, venison, and alligator were just a few of the new tastes that were experienced that night.

Amanda Jesse

Elaina practices bandaging feet so that when a real emergency comes up she can make it all better again.

Elaina Piner, Amanda Durham, Sarah Boardman, Elizabeth Montgomery, Kate Hughes

When asked how she managed her time, Cassie Kirby-Smith, President of FHA, remarked “In order to keep a club organized and successful one sold cookbooks that the students helped to make. The money raised was put into the account for future FHA members to use.

Quiz bowl members study hard for competition. “Competitions take a lot of knowledge and a good memory.” -- Nick Wilder

“Brain Against Brain”
Quiz bowl is an academic competition that pits “brain against brain”. It is one of the few competitions that encompasses all areas of study (science, math, music, current events, drama, sports, literature, agriculture, etc.) Tryouts are held in September with team practices held weekly to prepare for competition.

Quiz Bowl isn’t always serious. Training for and going to competitions was fun for the team members.

“I don’t give a fig.” Stressing over quiz bowl’s challenging questions, Jay Daniels falls over his desk.

Break of a New Age was an excellent theme for this year's yearbook. There are a lot of reasons for that. This yearbook was the start of something totally different. The way the pages looked, how they were made, the captions that were written, and even the way we were graded all changed from the years before. The layouts for the pages this year were done on columns. This helped make the pages more organized and appealing to the eye. All of the pictures had to have captions this year and that is not as easy as it sounds. There was a whole list of pointers that had to be taken into consideration before one could even begin to write.

Yearbook is not an easy class anymore (if it ever was). One has to be artistic, imaginative, and have fair writing skills. For even the veterans of the class, this year was a whole new experience. Everyone had to start with something new and everyone discovered creative skills they probably did not even know they had. Hopefully this yearbook will be a great success and this tradition can be carried on throughout the years.

Megan Jones designs one of her many layouts. Megan did an excellent job this year learning how to manage this new design. She also had wonderful writing skills.
Lena Cook helps Cassie Kirby-Smith work on her drama layout. This was Cassie’s first year in yearbook but with the help of others, she caught on without any trouble.

Michelle Salter works diligently on a rough draft homecoming layout. This layout was one of the first that needed to be sent off, so Michelle had to learn quickly.

Save that copy, Chevonne! This year’s copy was typed on the computer. Although it took a lot of getting used to, Chevonne and the others learned to draw and SAVE their copy.

Congratulations Alicia & Christopher

For over 18 years you have given us joy & pleasure as well as a tremendous amount of pride. You have done this not only in your accomplishments in school, but also in the way in which you have conducted yourselves in your daily lives.

Although we will surely miss having you at home for the next 4 years as you further your educations at NCSU & UNC-W, we know that you will continue to make us proud.

We love you & ask God's blessings on you always.
Congratulations!

ALL OUR LOVE,
Mom & Dad

Wishing you the very best!

Dear Becky,

We have watched you grow through these past seventeen years; freely giving love, friendship and loyalty. You knew yourself early and set a standard to which you have remained true through joys, sorrows, set-backs, and successes.

Your independence, faith, senses of fun, adventure, and justice are just parts of what make you such a wonderful young lady. We are so proud and love you so much! Your past is rich and your future is bright.

God bless you our precious child and sister.
Mom, Dad, and Carrie

Congratulations
Lindsay

We love you

Peanut,

How blessed we’ve been since you entered our lives. Your laughter, your beautiful smile, your beautiful face are always such a delight.

So much love you carry in your heart. This has been with you from the start.

You and your sister have made us so proud. Your strength and willingness to move forward and strive.

As you move forward in this world we’ll always remember our sweet beautiful girl. We are with you all the way. Never be afraid to follow your dreams. Remember to let God lead you through your life. Keep your faith and never sway. Stay strong and firm in this world today. We love you sweetie.

We love you,
Mom & Dad
Louann & Brittney
Lloyd,

You were a very special gift who brought happiness to many;

You made us a family!

We are proud to have you for OUR SON!
LOVE,
Mom & Dad
Dustin, you our first grandchild and when you were born, you had three other grandparents who were equally proud of our beautiful little boy. We have enjoyed watching you grow into a fine young man with a strong body and sharp mind that will help you attain any goal you seek. We're sure these capabilities will not be wasted because you have displayed your courage and tenacity in the sports field where you have played to win even when the situation looked hopeless. You have set a fine example for the other grandchildren to follow. As you enter the Coast Guard Academy, may your career be one of good sailing and take you to many exciting places as you follow the lanes of your seagoing forefathers. We're so proud of you and we love you.

Dear Lena,

Happiness is a present you give yourself-

It is something you have already given to me!

Congratulations!
I Love You, Mama

Congratulations to my Sweetheart!

Dear Desmond,

How do I thank you for all that you have been to me? You have shown me a wonderful happiness which few are lucky enough to see. You have supported me and taught me to always be strong against anything I take on. We have shared so many laughs together and you have even let me cry on you. You’re so much more to me than a boyfriend. Happy Senior year! I love you and thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Always, Carleen
Congratulations!
