As the sun begins to set on this century and the millennium, we look at all the amazing happenings of these past 100 years. In December of 1903, the Wright brothers created the first heavier-than-air plane and flew it in Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. Reverend Doctor Martin Luther King, Jr. delivered his "I have a dream" speech in the summer of 1963. On July 20, 1969 the spaceship Eagle made the first trip to the moon. Mark McGuire hit 70 homeruns in 1998. And of course, James Cameron made Titanic, the most expensive film of all time and arguably the most successful. In looking back at the feats the human race has accomplished, we begin to realize that life is "what you make it." We know that once we embark on our journey from East Carteret High School into the real world, our destiny is in our own hands and it is limitless.

Making Your Mark

Students become known at ECHS

Students at East Carteret do many things throughout the run of a day to help keep things interesting. Students have to do fun things in order to make it through a rigorous day of stressful learning. In order to keep the stress level down, students escape from the school-like atmosphere by painting, cooking, reading, attending assemblies, and by doing fun labs in science classes. These things are all es-essential in keeping students "sane". These things also tell a lot about each students' individual characteristics, and how they will make their mark at ECHS. Each student's interests and hobbies bring out something in them that is unlike any other student. This mark helps to build good character and school spirit. Students thrive on their individuality and being known by making their mark apparent to their peers and teachers.

With a smile on his face, Lance Kenworthy drops money in the box to help support the Soup Kitchen during the holidays. The effort by all the seniors at the Christmas assembly was a great success. They raised ninety dollars and also donated a box of food for the cause.

With a great deal of enthusiasm, Ginny Thomas, Cora Johnson, and Kristin Nelson prepare their Spanish dish for Mrs. Jenkins' first year class.

While intensely focusing on the canvas, Jennifer Amington paints a portrait of an unknown woman. She worked on this particular painting for a month.

While participating in a half-life lab in Mrs. Schooley's class, Amber Styron and Jennifer Terkelsen separate M & M's to demonstrate the process being studied.

Making Music

Under the leadership of Mrs. Ethridge, the new East Carteret Chorus and Mariner Singers' teacher, the choral programs have been brought to new heights. Everyone in the Mariner Singers had to audition for the privilege of becoming part of this talented group. Mrs. Ethridge did not hold her own auditions, Mr. Montgomery headed them up last year. Mrs. Ethridge has given her group a saying to live by throughout this season of Mariner Singers. It says, "The main thing, is keeping the main thing, the main thing." This is to help her students focus on what they are trying to accomplish. The Mariner Singers are a traveling vocal group. They have performed at area churches, Sailors Snug Harbor, and at Civic Center functions. "Mariner Singers has been a challenging and completely wonderful course this year. I only expect it to get better and better." B.J. Lawrence commented on being a part of the Mariner Singers.

While trying to follow perfectly Mrs. Ethridge's directions, Amanda White sings with pride in the fall concert "Shout the Good News!"

Smiling very proudly, all of the Mariner Singers and Chorus classes join together for one picture of fun.

Shouting the good news, the alto section sings "Fierce to Be So Beautiful."

An Evening of ONE acts, pantomimes, & Monologues

This year the Drama II class exposed the audience to the wide areas of drama. Unlike the typical plays performed by previous drama classes, our new director, Ms. Frances Etheridge decided upon an evening of one-acts, mimes, and monologues.

The first performance of the evening was 110th Street Station. In this play, different people from all walks of life are thrown together in a subway station in downtown Manhattan. The next big performance of the night was Just Deserts. In this one act play, the friends and family of the deceased Max Clairborn gather together in hopes of becoming rich from the reading of his will. The pantomimes included the Maternity Ward and Bowling. In Maternity Ward, four fathers anxiously await the arrival of their newly born children. The other mime included a couple who goes bowling and who find some over active bowling pins in Bowling.

Each student had to face the ultimate challenge, to act alone. Many students felt a heightened sense of confidence in their acting abilities after having performed monologues for an audience. This evening allowed the audience to not only see the different areas learned through the drama class, but also allowed the students to share and express their talents.

"I enjoyed working with everyone in the class. The class was exploding with talent!"

Damn Yankees

"Damn Yankees" was the 1999 East Carteret High School spring musical. It was chosen, directed and produced by Ms. Frances Ethridge and Ms. Lisa Raines. "I never realized how much work went into getting a musical ready," said Ms. Raines "there are a lot of tedious details that are involved." Some of those details include set design and construction, vocal direction, and choreography. Carol and Everett Blake helped with set construction, Lisa Stockard and Laurence Stith helped with vocal

It is the story of a die hard Washington Senators fan, Joe Boyd, who sells his soul to the Devil, a.k.a. Mr. Applegate. After joining the Senators baseball team Joe starts to long for home. In walks Lola, a real "sexy baby" to try and take Joe's mind off home. Yet Joe's love of his wife wins over his love of baseball, and Joe returns home but not before the Senators win the pennant over those damn Yankees!

Play ball!

MARCHING MARINERS

In our sundown perambulations of late, through the outer parts of Brooklyn. We have observed several parties of boys playing base, a certain game of Ball. Let us leave our closed rooms and go forth a while and get better air in our lungs. The game of Ball is glorious.

-Walt Whittman

The theme of the 98-99 fall show was "Take Me Out to the Ball Game;" a show that incorporated baseball rituals that any spectator would witness at a ball game. The Star Spangled Banner, the tune "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," the ball game itself, the brawl, and the American flag are all bits of Americana that could be seen throughout the show. The music was most interestingly arranged. From beginning to end, a complete rendition of the Star Spangled banner is heard interwoven between larger numbers that made up the show. The show was on the edge, musically, drill-wise and theatrically. It was fun, it was emotional, it was performing...it was baseball. Their judge was quoted as saying, "This is the most creative show I have ever seen." The band competed at West Craven H.S., White Oak H.S., and Greene Central H.S.

The crowd is always a big part of a baseball game. The band sits and stands, posing as the crowd while the flags are featured and the "bats" play the ball game.

There were a few changes, both in class and on the field. First, the band class moved from 1st period to 4th period. Also, Tuesday night practices were changed to Tuesdays and Thursdays after school. After many hours of hard work, the band raised enough money for new uniforms. The old uniforms had been worn at E.C.H.S. for about 30 years. The band had a new show and an entirely new look!

Marching to the beat between numbers, band members looked sharp in their new uniforms during the Homecoming parade. Thomas Smith, Sara Nasset, and Brent Ivester keep the rhythm in the ranks as the Marching Mariners prepare to wow parade watchers.

Do you think that playing pit percussion instruments is all fun and no work? Not according to Krystle Davis. She said, "It's all difficult; the hardest part is watching your instrument and the drum major at the same time." Katie Pittman (right) and Christine Pake (left) assist Krystle in the pit.

Assembling Together

Assemblies are a time

for students to get out of class and HAVE FUN....

...with their friends. Students have the privilege to sit with their friends and have a break from their usual routine at school. The assemblies we had this year included a pep rally, the Thanksgiving assembly, the Christmas assembly, Beta club inductions, and a Black Heritage assembly.

At the pep rally, the spirit stick contest was held, and cheerleaders performed to get the students pepped up for the Mullet Bucket game.

During the Thanksgiving assembly there were games and a guest speaker. State Trooper Chip Hughes came to warn students about the dangers of drinking and driving. Kiki turkey gobbling Seniors marched in the Christmas assembly and brought canned food or a dollar to help the Hope Mission Soup Kitchen in Morehead City. The Singers, and Spanish classes sang at the assembly. Santa Claus (Mr. Eades) and his elves (guidance counselors) helped to keep the spirit merry.

Beta club inductions were held for students and the parents of members of the Beta club. Five seniors and thirty-seven juniors were inducted into the Beta club this year.

At the Black Heritage assembly, the Healing Force, who were all family, performed "The Rhythm of the Drum." They brought an array of African drums. For the grand finale, students were called on stage to play the drums with the group and they brought the house down.

Santa Claus (Mr. Eades) makes his appearance with his elves. "I loved being pushed around in the cart by our lovely guidance counselors," exclaimed Mr. Eades.

The healing force sings and plays instruments for the Black Heritage assembly. The group also told an African version of the fairy tale Cinderella. This assembly was one of the most memorable of the year.

During the Christmas assembly, Mrs. Hannula's Spanish Class sings Christmas songs. More musical performances included Mrs. Jenkins' Spanish class, the chorus, and Mariner Singers.

Giving a great try, the reigning turkey gobbling king, Jack Smith, tries to keep his title. Despite his great efforts Jack lost his title to Kiki Johnson. This was just one of many events for students to participate in.

Before the Homecoming parade, all the candidates gathered in Beaufort, and met on the Crystal Queen tour boat. Even though they all knew there would only be one winner for King and for Queen, all candidates were delighted just to be included in the special occasion.

A Time to Remember More Than ROYALTY

After much preparation, the anxiety that had filled the hearts of all the candidates was about to come to an end as the homecoming events took place. The homecoming events took place on October 16. Unlike the weather last year, there could not have been a more beautiful day. The parade went smoothly, and everyone seemed to enjoy the special event.

The homecoming game was played against Swansboro. A lot of people came, not only to see the halftime show, but to support the football team. The varsity boys worked tremendously hard, and won the game with a score of 21 to 7. Thanks to everyone involved in Student Council, the halftime show was a success. All in all, the whole day was a time to remember.

The ECHS Band marked down front street loud and proud. Returning drum majors Tia Roberts and B.J. Lawrence lead the whe way with "Mariner Pride".

The Science Department, including Carteret County Teacher of the Year, Mrs. Barbara Waters, cruise proudly in Mr. Barker's truck in the parade. Mrs. Waters said, "We wanted to show our excitement for homecoming and to be part of the special occasion," even though Mr. Barker "... just did it for fun."

The Sophomore class decided to "make the Pirates walk the plank." When they weren't getting egged or run over by 4 wheelers, they worked hard preparing and defending their property.

The theme for the float of the Class of 2002 was "Feed'em to the Sharks"! In spite of a short "egg raid" the float was ready to roll on parade day.

This year, the senior float was put together at Lori Willis' house. The seniors had a great time preparing the float, even though the juniors were there in no time, and so were the C.O.P.S.!

Shining In The Spotlight

It's every little girl's wish to shine in the spotlight for just one minute, to be showered in flowers and crowned with a sparkling tiara. For those few seconds time is frozen and all eyes concentrate on her.

Fortunately, for Brandy Sanders, that wish came true on October 16 during the halftime of the victory football game against the Swansboro Pirates.

For Molly Wheatly (sophomore), Jennifer Cruisie (freshman), and Cassondra Newkirk (senior), part of that dream was shared. They too, were in the spotlight taking 1st, 2nd, and 3rd runners up. FFA candidate, Amanda Jessee, and Video News Candidate, Kendra Murphy, also glowed as they were named to the Homecoming Court.

As Asher Willis proudly accepted his scepter and title as Homecoming King '98, the band began to play, "My Heart Will go on" by Celine Dion. The lights dimmed and the colorguard performed with glow-sticks and fire batons.

Another great Mariner tradition continued when the '98 Homecoming King and Queen toured around the track. The Mariners went on to crush their opponents in a 21to7 victory. It was a fitting end to a memorable Homecoming.

'98 Homecoming Senior Nominees:

Ashley Best, Abby Hastings, Brandy Sanders, Amanda Jessee, and Erin Chadwick; Amanda Whitehead, Asher Willis, Rachel Nelson, Sherry Willis, Anna Fansler, Heather Davis, Cassondra Newkirk, Missy Barrington, Donovan Everett, & Star Simmons.

The reigning '97 Homecoming King and Queen, Desmond Garner and Luv Mayers, return to ECHS and along with Dr. Mary Jane McReynolds, they crowned the new '98 Homecoming royalty.

The Secrets of the Secret Garden

The 1999 prom committee was faced with a new challenge this year, the Civic Center. This was the first year East Carteret held the prom at the Civic Center. "We only had one day to decorate, which meant we had to be organized," said Ms. Stephenson, the junior class sponsor. Since they only had one day to decorate, they had to start planning in October. Several local businesses donated flowers and plants to help make the decorations more like a real garden. The decorating committee tried to keep the decorations just like the students wanted them and the prom looked great!

Windy Joyner works hard to untangle one of the many strands of Christmas lights that adorned the Civic Center on prom night.

Mrs. Waters and Ms. Stephenson, the Junior class sponsors, model the newest line in swan wear.

Mrs. June Vann and Karlyn Salter work together to make sure the faux (false) rocks are centered. Without the help of the many parents, like Mrs. Vann, the prom would not have been such a success.

Stephine Stanley fights with masking tape to help hang ivy. In front of her is one of the many swans that Jamie Dickinson painted for prom.

Prom-goers gather around a table to vote on the prom court. The prom sponsors decided to have more princesses in order to give more students a chance at being on the court

Students who attended the prom dance the night way. Due to a mix-up with the music request sheets, many fast songs were played and not all the slow songs that students had requested. Later, students were allowed to pick songs from the DJ's CDs.

Prom night which was held on March 20, 1999, turned out to be a great night. For the first time in the history of East Carteret the prom took place off campus at the Civic Center in Morehead. It lasted from 8:00pm. to 12:00am. The theme of the prom this year was "A Secret Garden." The prom was decorated with swans and pastel color balloons. On the tables, there were centerpieces with jellybeans in little plastic swans and daisies. The DJ played a variety of music. It was a special night for most seniors because it was their last prom at East Carteret.

went smoothly.
~Mrs. Stephenson*

The juniors only had one day to prepare for the prom. They put in a lot of hours of hardwork and pulled it off with great success. The juniors came up with the theme by brainstorming ideas and then they voted on the best three.

After the prom, many students went to parties, in particular at the Sheraton Hotel. Certain sources revealed that the 9th floor was one big party. Others had rooms at the Summer Suites where, to their dismay, the party didn't last long. Police officers set up a road block by the Atlantic Beach bridge to catch drunk drivers. They caught 30+ drunk drivers but none of them were teenagers.

Overall, the prom was enjoyed at its new location. Many students took pictures on the patio while taking in the views of the sound and the lights of Atlantic Beach.

These "teachers" helped make up the "new faces" East Carteret students met when they arrived at school after summer break. They were ready to make their marks. We talked with a few of them to find out what they liked best about East Carteret. We've asked questions like: "What college did you attend?, What was your major?, and What has been the best thing about being a new teacher at East Carteret?" After careful deliberation, the yearbook staff decided to dedicate the last volume of the East Wind for this millennium to Mrs. Kandice Davis and Mrs. Margaret Laughinghouse.

Mrs. Kandice Davis was born to Florence and Elmer Smith from Carteret County. She is an only child. She received her education at Smyrna High School and then furthered her education at Atlantic Christian College and East Carolina University. She received a B.S. and an M.A. Ed. in mathematics. She lives in Gloucester with her husband A.C. She has one daughter, Sharon Stanley, who is following in her mother's footsteps as a teacher. Mrs. Davis enjoys traveling and working in her garden. When asked about teaching and retiring she replied, "I like the fact that teaching is different every day. It is never boring. I am retiring because I have worked long enough and I have so many things I want to do." Even though Mrs. Davis has only been teaching for thirty years, she says it seems more like seventy five.

'99 EAST WIND

Mrs. Margaret Laughinghouse was born to Curtis and Lucille Pake from Carteret County. She is an only child. She received her education at Beaufort High School, and then furthered her education at Atlantic Christian College. She is now living in Beaufort and is divorced. She has one son, Randy, who is twenty-two. Mrs. Laughinghouse enjoys reading, needlework, and visiting historical attractions. When asked about teaching and retiring she replied, "I enjoy the interaction with my students in class. I'm retiring because I've been teaching for thirty years and my bones are tired. I'm also ready for a change of pace. Mrs. Laughinghouse has also been teaching for thirty years. She also noted to us that she and Mrs. Davis met as college freshmen at Atlantic Christian College.

Calculus first thing in the morning can be very stressful, even if that is so, Mrs. Davis tries her best to explain the homework to Justin Tillet.

With ruler in hand, Mrs. Laughinghouse has nothing to worry about in her attempts to punish Taylor Willis in her own way. In reality, she is known for having a sense of humor as well as strict.

This year the faculty and staff of East Carteret nominated Mrs. Barbara Waters for the county's Teacher of the Year. After this nomination she was selected as Teacher of the Year for Carteret County by the school board.

Mrs. Waters grew up in New York and Rome with her parents, Joseph and Emily Simon, and her two younger brothers, Robert and Joseph Jr. She began her education at Stanwix Elementary School which has now been turned into an apartment building. She then attended Oriskany Central School, where she graduated as the valedictorian of her class in 1969. Then, she received her B.S. in Biology and Biology Education at State University of New York at Albany. She graduated in 1973. She decided to further her education by attending North Carolina State University, where she received her M.S. in Marine Science in May of 1979. With her education she has taught at Vernon-Verona-Sherrill High School in Verona, New York. She was also a teaching assistant at NCSU while in graduate school.

Mrs. Waters is now married to Jim Waters and has three children: Richard, Charlie, and Jimmy. She enjoys traveling, running, cooking, and reading. She says, "I like teaching because the students keep me young in spirit." When she retires she plans to travel and take more classes. In regards to receiving the honor of Teacher of the Year, Mrs. Waters explains, "I felt very honored to be selected as Carteret County's Teacher of the Year. I truly love what I do."

TEACHER OF THE YEAR

Barbara Waters

"I like teaching because the students keep me young in spirit."

Mrs. Waters graduated valedictorian of her 1969 class in high school.

In her first semester at East, Mrs. Waters was already filled with school spirit!

Smiling as always, Mrs. Waters helps students with a marine science project.

Operating on a fish in marine science, Brian Stallings shows everyone how to do it right. Seniors took extra science and math classes to prepare for college.

On occasion you can catch Josh Arthur doing work. Josh is a teacher assistant for Mr. Weeks. Many seniors took jobs as assistants to fill up their schedule due to the loss of senior flex.

Riding on the first place float are Sue Lewis and Dee Willis. The seniors worked hard on their float for a week and took many precautions to keep it from being egged.

Marching in at the Christmas assembly, seniors Joy Fulford and Lee Ann Golden put money in the box for the soup kitchen. Seniors either had to bring a canned food or one dollar to help the Soup Kitchen.

The Beginning of the END

It was finally here. Our senior year was ushered in with lots of anticipation of graduation. REALITY soon set in as the year progressed. We soon realized we had to bring up GPA's and work hard to get accepted to a college. This year also turned out to be very co$tlly between cap and gown rentals, college application processing fees, the Prom, and graduation invitations just to name a few expen$e$.

The senior year is one of the most exciting. The senior float won first place in the homecoming parade. We also managed to not get arrested during the EGG WAR. In any case, reality that we would be graduating loomed on the horizon.

Even though it had to end, we will always remember the class of 1999 and all the good times and great friends we had at East Carteret.

Who's Who 1999

The Who's Who students are a select few chosen by the faculty of East Carteret High School during the spring semester. ✧ They are selected based on the characteristics of leadership, character, scholarship, and their involvement. ✧ These characteristics should be used to help guide others. ✧ They are qualities that everyone, both young and old, should try to develop. ✧ Qualities, such as these, are hard to come by and when one possesses them they should be treasured and cherished for the rest of one's life. ✧ These students have received a great honor, and it is our hope that they continue to be role models for tomorrow's students. ✧

Jacob Ashworth

There is a thin line between genius and insanity. Those who fall behind never catch up. Those who step over rarely come back. Those who waver on the edge will be truly happy.

--Himself

Mary Catherine Brake

Two important things are to have a genuine interest in people and to be kind to them. Kindness, I've discovered is everything.

--Isaac Bashevis Singer

Beanne Chadwick

Curiosity will conquer fear even more than bravery will.

--James Stephens

Ramsey Davis

The winds and the waves are always on the side of the ablest navigator.

--Edward Gibbon

Clarence Ely

Always remember to put God first in everything you do.

Anna Fansler

Knowledge is gained by learning; trust by doubt; skill by practice; love by love.

--Thomas Szasz

Hilary Gaskill

Success has nothing to do with what you gain in life or accomplish for yourself. It is what you do for others.

--Danny Thomas

Lasonja Goddette

We are not in a position in which we have nothing to work with. We already have capacities, talents, direction, missions, and callings.

--Abraham Maslow

Abby Hastings

It's good to remember that we aren't helpless. There is always something we can do.

--Carla Gorrell

Bobbi Hoffman

Always be patient: the best things come to those who wait.

Chris Hopkins

Destiny is not a matter of chance; it is a matter of choice. It is not to be waited for, but something to be achieved.

--William Jennings Bryant

Lisa Knox

If you always do what you've always done, you'll always be what you've always been.

--Josh McDowell

Adam Laughton

When you were born, you cried and the world rejoiced. Live your life so that when you die, you will rejoice and the world will cry.

--Unknown

B.J. Lawrence

Knowledge is a treasure, but practice is the key to it.

--Thomas Fuller

Jon Morris

To strive, to seek to find and not to yield.

--Alfred Lord Tennyson

Cassandra Newkirk

A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds.

--Francis Bacon

Tracey Peterson

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. Be not wise in thine own eyes: fear the Lord, and depart from evil.

--Proverbs 3:5-7

Jarrett Piner

Graduation is something to be looked upon with joyous cheers; it is merely the end of the beginning.

-Himself

Joanna Pittman

Kind words can be short and easy to speak, but their echoes are truly endless.

--Mother Teresa

Domaine Reels

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm.

--Ralph Waldo Emerson

Tia Roberts

Failure is only the opportunity to begin again more intelligently.

--Unknown

Brandy Sanders

Don't forget to be kind to strangers for some who have done this have entertained angels without realizing it.

--Hebrews 13:2

Charlotte Taylor

Hate your enemies. Save your friends. Find your place. Speak the truth.

--Kurt Cobain

Beth Thomas

The hopeful man sees success where others see failure, sunshine where others see shadows and storm.

--O.S. Morden

Justin Tillet

The sky might be the limit, nevertheless you must always keep your feet on the ground. This is what truly distinguishes intelligence from ignorance.

Jon Ward

When you pray, go into your room. Close the door and pray to your Father who is unseen. Then your Father, who sees what is done in secret, will reward you.

--Matthew 6:6

What's Next?

Everything changes after graduation: new plans, new experiences, and new memories to make.

What's next for these seniors?

Ashley Best has plans to further her education in massage therapy. She will then use the trade of massage therapy to pay her way through school to be a high school science teacher.

Charlotte Taylor plans to attend North Carolina State University to major in biological engineering with a concentration in genetics. She would like to research genetic diseases and find a cure.

Bryce Dixon plans to attend CCC for one or two years before transferring to UNC-Wilmington where he would like to major in business. He would also like to stay out of the "big house" if at all possible.

Benji Taylor plans to attend CCC for two years and then transfer to Mt. Olive or UNC-Wilmington in order to study criminal justice.

Josh Loftin plans to attend North Carolina State University for four years to major in math. He said there is a possibility he will become a math teacher.

Raymond Sanders plans to attend CCC for two years and then transfer to UNC-Wilmington or UNC-Chapel Hill.

Bobbi Lynn Hoffman wants to first enjoy her summer; then she'll take some general education classes at CCC. While there she'll pick a major with a possible transfer.

Carol Cook, formerly Bolden, plans to attend CCC; however, her plans may have to wait because she will be occupied with a tiny addition to her new family. Congratulations!

Erin Chadwick plans to attend Cape Fear Community College to obtain an associate degree in dental hygiene so she can become a dental assistant.

Beau Gunn, once successfully graduated from East Carteret, plans to attend Cape Fear Community College. Afterwards, he wants to transfer to a university where he will major in pre-law.

1. As a special surprise for her seniors, Mrs. Thompson, class sponsor, made arrangements to have balloons dropped in celebration of the end of commencement. 2. Bobbi Lynn Hoffman sang "Letting Go" as a tribute to the senior class and also to her grandmother Ellen Piner. 3. Near the end of the ceremony, everyone stood, roses in hand and tassels turned, to sing the Alma Mater. 4. Valedictorian, Adam Laughton told seniors "to believe in the possibilities of the future." 5. Leaving their unique mark at Project Graduation, Joanna Pittman and Robert Lewis sign the class banner that will reappear at their class reunion. 6. Latasia Frazier gave a rousing speech, boldly stating her faith to thundering applause. 7. Accepting the Thomas Holmes Carrow Scholarship, Chris Hopkins bounded on stage after fellow recipient Jacob Ashworth.

THE END OF THE ROAD

The Beginning of the Journey

Graduation means different things to different people. For some it is the end of a long, difficult road through the dry halls of education; for others it is a signpost on the way, marking the end of one journey and the beginning of another. It is an individual experience that is shared in tandem with loved ones and people who barely know each other. No matter how it is regarded, commencement is a long anticipated event, filled with tradition at East Carteret High School.

Commencement 1999 was no exception. Family and friends vied for the best seats in the always packed gymnasium. Tears were shed by proud parents and best friends. Programs turned into fans as all tried to survive the heat. A few Junior Marshals discreetly made their way to a restroom to avoid passing out. Before anyone realized it, the ceremony was over, balloons were dropped and popped, and another senior class was successfully graduated from East Carteret.

There were unforgettable moments as well. Who could forget the soft tones of Bobbi Lynn's tribute song? Or Ashley Best's call to the pioneers of the new millennium? Or Latasia's strong words of faith? Or Adam's thought/comment-provoking poem? Or receiving that cherished diploma from Dr. McReynolds' hands? Or Bryce Dixon waddling out with a balloon hidden under his robe, looking like a pregnant woman?

Project Graduation was next. Graduates skated, ate, gambled, and bid their way into the night.

For many, this was a fun respite after a tough senior year and the crush of exams.

It was the end of the road and the beginning of the journey. It was graduation and it was good-bye.

"It's the greatest time in our lives."

-Ashley Best and Jennie Austin

Rod Ellison:
"I'm just ready to go."

Leo Wilson:
"Feels good; can't describe it."

Amanda Conley:
"This is it. I'm glad I'm getting out of here."

Buddy Abbott:
"I feel like a million bucks."

How does it feel to finally graduate?

Daniele Wilson:
"Feels awesome! I'm sad to be losing my friends."

Cassondra Newkirk: "It feels great! I feel very independent."

Les Thomas: "I'm glad that the worst has to be behind me."
Justin Stein: "Every moment of the last 15 years has been worth it."

Brent Ivester:
"Where am I going to work?"

Jazzmean Cosby: "I feel happy, excited, and wonderful."

Time to suit up! Mr. Eades aids these juniors in their preparations for the girls' egg toss. Many of the participants opted to cover up with trash bags in hopes of avoiding disaster!

Open Wide! Jazzmea Johnson found out that Hefty trash bags aren't always the best protection from flying egg missiles. She loudly proclaimed: "I've got it all in my mouth!!"

The 2nd annual Junior/Senior Field Day was held on May 28, 1999. Sign-ups for different field events took place in the two weeks prior to Field Day. All juniors and seniors were released from 2nd period. The juniors returned to class when field day ended but the seniors stayed on the field for the traditional senior picnic, catered by Roland's BBQ. It was a beautiful day, not only because of the lovely sunshine, but also because the seniors successfully maintained their title as Field Day Champions after having beat both the Class of 1998 but also the Class of 2000!

Puny Punting This was one of the most hilarious events at field day. Participants were blindfolded and directed to kick a football as far as they could down the field. Miss after miss, this pigskin had nothing to fear.

Careful Stan!

Stan Figueroa carefully tosses an egg to his partner Kiki Johnson. It's amazing how tough some raw eggs can be. Several teams were lucky enough to have their eggs hit the ground and roll to them without a single crack.

Honored Guests

The Lady Mariners occupied the best seats in the house as they were preparing to leave for Raleigh to play in the state softball championships. They came home with Eastern 2-A Regional title and a ranking of 3rd in the state.

Get It Together!

Teamwork is definitely the key for winning this field event. Team members attempt to scoot along towards the finish line with their feet attached to long flat boards. Even though the juniors tried to cheat, the seniors still came through with a victory.

Elizabeth Montgomery comes to guidance to get registration forms for the SAT. She believes the SAT to be "a pointless test taken to see how well you can take a test." This was the second time Elizabeth has taken the SAT.

One of the many privileges allowed to juniors is the chance to give blood. Travis Bartram smiles knowing he is helping to save a life.

Trish Vann takes a break from reading the newspaper to smile for the camera. She said, "Being an office assistant is fun even though Mr. Taylor will run you to death."

Jennifer Arrington works on her painting Columbia. She entered it in a contest for the coming Millenium. Good luck Jennifer!

Making the year Exciting

As juniors we are given many things to think about. The SAT looms over our heads. Parents and teachers start to impress the importance of college while our mailboxes fill with brochures. Many juniors are faced with such course loads that include the trials of Mrs. Frivance, Mr. Barker, and Mr. Kappel.

Through all of this we still find ways to have fun, such as releasing our tensions during the infamous egg wars, and on the seniors during the Junior/Senior field day. It is also up to the juniors to insure a successful and beautiful prom.

As the milleniumn approaches, we find ourselves faced with many decisions and choices. We trust ourselves and our friends to make the best of what we have, and enjoy the pleasure of living. For we all know by now It's what you make it!

Becoming a Marshal

Junior Marshals are selected based on their class rank. They are the top 10% of their class and the number of marshals depends on the number of students enrolled in the junior class. The selection process involves computing each student's grade point average to the 4th decimal place after the 2nd 6 weeks of the spring semester.

Those juniors who don't make marshal, still have an opportunity to be in the top 10% their senior year. There are more advanced placement courses available to seniors which help in the weighting and computation of final, overall grade point averages. Motivated juniors could still have a chance at breaking into that top 10% their senior year.

In Mrs. Clayton's room, Jessica Dowty prepares food to be cooked for her Spanish project with her partner Ramón. They are making chimichangas for Mrs. Jenkin's Spanish I class. "It gives us an opportunity to experience another country's food."

Mr. Weeks can not hold students, David Wheatly and Casey Arthur's attention when the camera is in the room.

Hustling down the halls Kayla Benard hurries to class. Students have so much to do in between classes that they always seem to be in a rush.

While waiting for their next class to begin, Pete Rose and Jessica Lewis take time to catch up.

Without cars and freedom to go wherever they want, no extra privileges like seniors, sandwiched between the bottom of the rung and juniors with their prom plans, sophomores are loaded down with tests, tests, and more tests! They are also challenged to make their own mark in a different way than the other classes. How is this possible in light of the fact that they are without cars and freedom to go wherever they want, no extra privileges like seniors, sandwiched between the bottom of the rung and juniors with their prom plans. Sophomores are loaded down with tests, tests, and more tests!

The sophomore year is a boring year for most. Few sophomores have licenses and a car which means in order to go out and have fun, you have to MAKE friends with older students. If they don't have any friends that can drive, they basically have no social life at all.

Other classes have different things to look forward to, different stepping stones which mark their path through high school. Seniors have the college application process, extra privileges and graduation. The juniors are now happy they are not sophomores anymore and are excited to plan and decorate for the prom. To freshmen, everything is brand new and they have all sorts of upper-classmen to look up to and to envy. Sophomores, on the other hand, have gotten into the swing of things and know how things work. They are loaded down with many tests (the English writing tests and the new 10th grade competency test) and have a lot expected of them.

Even though there are no major stepping stones MARKING the sophomore year, there is still the joy of knowing you survived your freshman year and that the next year you will be a junior. The sophomore year may not be that great, but you are only a sophomore once and should try to enjoy every moment of it. Just think: at the end, you will be a junior and half way through your high school career!

few students where they like to study and why.

Joanna Brake says that she likes to study just before class because of her short term memory.

"I like to study in a quiet place with friend because it's easier, fun, and helpful," states Joy Johnson and Gail Terkelson.

"My favorite place to study is the lobby because my friends and I are more aware to realize what is going on before class begins," quotes Nina Gibbs.

Fruits are an important factor in everyone's diet.

People have different likes and dislikes in their choice of fruit. If you were a fruit, what would you be and why?

Lesley Taylor states, "If I were a fruit I would be a strawberry because they are very sweet."

Mallory Jesse says, "If I were a fruit I would be a banana because they are tall and skinny."

Mark Johnson quotes, "If I were a fruit I would be a watermelon because they are big and juicy."

Posing pretty, Natasha Lindstadt smiles for a quick snapshot taken by Mr. Emer. She stops for a drink in between first and second period.

With a smile on his face, Thomas Whaley works hard to finish his Geometry work before the end of class. He uses his time wisely so he can have free time after school.

Teamwork is the key when it comes to participating in activities with Mrs. Schooley. Joie Emerick and Lily Stewart push their athletic ability to the max to get the best time in the bleacher run exercise. The exercise was to learn more about the relationship between distances and ratios.

Concentrating hard on his calculations, Thomas Smith records the times scored in Mrs. Schooley's bleacher step exercise.

A New Beginning

F•R•E•S•H•M•E•N

Freshmen adjust to new surroundings and leave seniors with a sense of confidence for East Carteret's future.

For this year's freshman class, a new chapter began. They made the transition from middle school to high school. This chapter in their lives started with a feeling of anxiety and excitement. They had no idea what to expect and what they were in for. The year got easier as students from the different middle schools began to get to know each other. New friends were made and old friends were reunited after the summer break. This year's freshmen

Carteret High School lies in good hands.

Towering over the net, Lori Willis kills the ball in a match against the Clinton Dark Horses.

With grins on their faces, the Lady Mariners celebrate a successful season with a group hug.

With knees locked, Tracy Vann stands tall while her bases lift her into the air. Although some still do not regard it as a sport, cheerleading has gained respect in recent years because of broadcast competitions and advances in gymnastics and flamboyant stunts.

In the home game against East Duplin, Ronnie Johnson carries the ball for extra yards.

Playing Around

Athletics and academics work together hand in hand.

Crouching down, Dexter Garner gets the sign from Coach Chadwick.

This year's athletic teams have been very successful. Many have competed in state wide tournaments and competitions, in which they placed in the top percentage of their field. The JV cheerleaders placed first in their conference competition. The Varsity Girls basketball team were second in the second round of state playoffs. The Girls' Track team won at the State Championships. Jarrett Piner competed at regionals and was selected All-Conference Player of the Year. The softball team placed third in the state and finished as the East Regional Champions. There were also several coaches who were honored in the conference: Mr. Eades,

Coach of the Year for soccer, Ms. Carver, Coach of the Year in cheerleading, and Mr. Frazier was honored as Coach of the Year in track by the NCHSAA. As well as performing on the athletic fields these athletes also excelled in the classroom. Many of the student athletes received Scholar Athlete Awards at the Academic Banquet. This year East Carteret High School was recognized as being second in the state for having one of the highest grade point averages for its athletic teams. This is a great honor, and it just goes to show that athletics and academics can work together hand in hand.

LET'S SOME MAKE NOISE!!

This season was a very successful one for the J.V. cheerleading squad. They competed at the conference level, where they received first place honors, and at ECU. The girls had a lot of fun this year, and traveled with the varsity girls basketball team while in the state play-offs. Through many long road trips and endless hours of practice the squad never lost its pep. They continued to cheer and support their teams even while trying to get ready for competition. The squad was led by coach June Vann. This was Mrs. Vann's first year as cheerleading coach at East but not her first year coaching. She brought in a lot of experience from her years of coaching on the middle school level.

Preparing for a game, Lauren Sechler practices her scorpion. All of the girls are very proud of this; it is a very big accomplishment for them.

Waiting patiently, the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders line up for the football players to run through the sign they made. Making these banners takes time but the players seem to get a real kick out of them.

Before a game, the girls practice their stunts. This particular stunt was used as part of their competition routine.

Sprinting for a touchdown, Terrell Henry gives Southwest Onslow a run for their money. East Carteret smashed Southwest Onslow by eight points bringing another victory for the record.

Meeting The Challenge

The cheerleading season officially begins at tryouts in the spring of the school year. Usually there are summer practices before even going to camp and then the squad attends a 3 or 4 day intensive training session called camp in July. This year's Varsity Cheerleading squad attended camp at Appalachian, the first time the squad has ever traveled so far to a camp. The UCA Elite camp was geared towards squads with more advanced skills than others and teaches material that is challenging and at the same time very useful. Double-take (continually moving with transitions) stunts were a focus this year as they are a new trend in stunting nationwide. The 1998-1999 squad was an experienced one with 6 seniors (who had been cheering for 6 years beginning in middle school), 6 juniors and 2 sophomores. Brandy Sanders was selected to be an instructor at Champion Summer Cheerleading Camps and plans to tryout in the fall at ECU and Abby Hastings plans to tryout for the dance team at NCSU. In spite of all this training, experience, and talent the squad had a disappointing competition season. The girls competed at a nationals-qualifying competition at ECU and at their conference competition. Even though the squad didn't place, Ms. Carver, their very experienced coach stated: "I wasn't disappointed with the squad's performance at competition, especially at Greenville. We just lacked experience in gymnastics." The challenge for this squad like many others across the nation is to incorporate more gymnastics into their cheering. The future looks bright for the returning juniors and sophomores but it will take hard work and determination if this squad wants to stay on a competitive level with other area schools.

SPEAKING & OF COACHES

Ms. Carver has been coaching cheerleaders since 1991, beginning as an assistant to Michele Buday, former faculty member at ECHS. They coached the JV squad together and when Mrs. Buday left, she coached the JV squad alone for 2 years. In 1995, Ms. Carver took over the Varsity squad when Ms. Raines arrived and began coaching JV. Her oldest daughter Bonnie was a cheerleader throughout her school years and it was her daughter's love of cheerleading that got her interested in coaching. She enjoys working with student athletes because she believes that physical fitness is important. "I enjoy being with them; their enthusiasm and watching how much they enjoy that part of school is the joy of coaching. I continue to coach because I have seen how much cheerleading at East Carteret has grown. We now "fit" in with other schools at competitions and are on a good competitive skill level with them."

SPEAKING & OF CHALLENGES

Preparing and practicing a competition routine occupies much of a cheerleading squad's extra time. Competitions enable a squad to display their stunting, dancing, and cheering skills that they use all year long to pump up the crowds and encourage their team to victory.

Balancing perfectly and with all concentration, the varsity squad practices a key stunt that later appeared in their competition routine. The two liberties on each side are supported by a double-base in the middle. The squad practiced this pyramid until they could perform it with ease.

SACK! PASS! SCORE! The '98 Varsity football team heard these chants many times during the season, and apparently, they worked.

Coach Tom Frazier and his assistants, Mickey Edwards, Doug Fedak, and Ken Treadway guided the team to the record of winning the "Mullet Bucket" for a fourth straight year. "Our group of seniors this year was possibly the best ever at East," said Coach Frazier.

Domaine Reels, Kiki Johnson, and Lamar Jones represented the Mariners as team captains and as part of the All-East Central 2A Conference team.

The Sportsmanship Award from the North Carolina High School Athletic Association was given to the team for their character, integrity, citizenship, and respect of others. Coach Tom Frazier and assistants would like to thank the team for representing ECHS so well and making all who saw them play so very proud of their efforts.

"Our team was well prepared and played extremely hard every Friday night", Coach Tom Frazier complimented. Before the games, the football players ate together and got pumped up as a team.

~Tyler Pake

The Cross Country team had an excellent season. They practiced everyday and the workouts varied from long slow distance (4-6 miles) to speed work where they ran from 100 meters to 800 meters at race pace. The team also managed to slip in a few running games such as "Hound and Hare," "Scavenger Hunt," and "Follow the leader." The boys' team came in with 5 wins and 4 losses, which showed much improvement over last year's scores. However, the girls team never had enough runners to qualify for a team score. Due to injuries earlier in the season to a couple of key runners, the girls' team never reached their full potential. When questioned about this year's season coach Burbella stated, "The boys' team really came together at the end of the season while several girl's had good individual accomplishments".

The East Carteret JV Volleyball team had a sensational season, losing only one game to Clinton. Under the coaching of Mrs. Van Ness and Mrs. Halliday, the team defended their title of Conference Champs. With 6 returning players, the team had great leadership. Even in times of struggle the team always found a way to pull it back together. Each player worked hard together and grew close like a family. Starting sophomore, Cora Johnson says, "I enjoyed being on the team this year, and with the ability the new freshman showed, they should have no problem keeping the Conference Champion title."

BUM^{IP} Off the COMPETITION

The 1998 ECHS Varsity Volleyball Team have a lot to be proud of. Last year the team finished in last place in the conference and this year they moved up to fourth place, a big improvement. Seven returning players off the varsity team helped achieve this huge rise in position. The team also had two new coaches, Jennifer VanNess and Cindy Halliday. Mrs. VanNess played intermediate volleyball at Virginia Tech, and she also played at the Coast Guard Academy. This experience helped the team in many ways. "Coach VanNess really cared about us winning, and also about our love for the game," said Tracey Peterson. "There was never a dull moment with Coach VanNess' enthusiasm and kidding around, she seemed more like someone you would want to hang around with than a coach," added Lori Willis.

Serving it with an attitude, Cassondra Newkirk gets another powerful serve. Serving was one of the teams strongest areas, and was a skill that had been much improved since last year. Cassondra received the Best Offensive award, along with Lori Willis for outstanding achievement in areas of serving and hitting.

Frozen in mid air, Lori Willis and Tracey Peterson jump to get the perfect block. With their arms extended and hands tilted, they achieve their goal. Lori was the tallest player on the team at 6ft, giving her the advantage over the net and although Tracey didn't have the height, she definitely had the hops.

Practicing to get the perfect kill in the game, Allison Lewis prepares for the spike. Warming up in hitting was one of the many pregame exercises the team worked on to fire them up for a victory.

One way of getting loose before a game is to do exercise drills. Coach Eades likes to make sure his players are ready to go when the whistle blows.

Aware of the potential for talent this year, the ECHS soccer team had high hopes of having a spectacular season.

This year's team had to work hard to overcome the graduation of many seniors, but with the experience of the new coaches and the returning players, they had little to worry about.

For the team, spring was not a time for relaxation, but a return to hardwork. They spent the preseason working hard and running to prepare for the strenuous competition that awaited them.

New to the ECHS soccer program this year was coach Keith Eades. He was quoted as saying, "Attitude is everything...if you expect victory, play hard, and play smart, success comes."

The season started off slow after the first six games with a 0-5-1 record. Then the Mariner soccer players went on to win 12 out of the next 14 games, placing them in second place with Richlands High School in the East Central Conference. The tie was broken when the Mariners beat Richlands in a playoff match which placed them second in the State 2A playoffs.

The team ended the season with a 12-7-1 overall record and a 9-3 East Central Conference record. This was the best-ever conference for an East Carteret team.

Hoop Dreams

The J.V. girl's team worked hard this year preparing for Varsity. All the players learned all the team positions and plays. With such a large sophomore team, only freshman will be returning next year. Even though there were fun times and joking around, there was also a time to be serious and get to work. Through the hard work and determination the girls team was able to play hard and win. Next year we hope to have another great team with such a great coach as we did this year.

The lady Mariners J.V. team learned 2 new inbound plays. They said they really enjoyed having Mr. John Way as their coach this year.

In other words, all 16 players used all 32 of their feet in every gameto bring about their overall season record of 16-2. The 1999 J.V. Basketball Team was a good one. This was the first year coaching basketball for East Carteret for both Coach Fedak and Coach Walker. According to Coach Fedak one of the highlights of the season was against Richlands when we scored an all time high with 139 points over Richlands 65! "It was a team effort," said Coach Jimmy Walker.

Joel Hancock, #12, shoots the ball over the head of East Duplin's number five. Joel scored an average of 75 points for the entire season. This was his first year playing basketball for East Carteret.

Number 22 Arik Taylor, rushes down the court and prepares for the lay-up. During the season Arik scored a total of 122 points.

Justin Bourbeau, #20, Marcus McDonald, #33, Arik Taylor, #22, and members of the East Duplin Panthers tangle arms and legs during a scramble for the ball. "This is a good group of young athletes," said Coach Fedak, "they played well as a team."

Showing perfect form, Hilary Gaskill takes a jump shot from the corner against the Clinton Dark Horses. Hilary's shot hit nothing but net.

The Lady Mariners had a very successful season. They played hard and gave 100% every day, whether at practice or in a game. Hard work, determination, and the help of a great coaching staff led to the success of this ball club. From the first day of November until the middle of March, the Lady Mariners awed the fans with their performance on the court. With the contributions made by each player the winning season began. The Lady Mariners finished second in the conference and conference tournament due to their wins over rival Swansboro. This gave the Mariners their chance to play in the state playoffs. Through many long bus trips, nail-biting ball games, and the inspiration of the Lady Vols the Mariners made it to the second round of the state playoffs. Many honors were given to this team. The Carteret County News Times gave the team an "A" for attitude, stating that the team never showed signs of any conflicts among themselves, and commenting on the great sportsmanship showed throughout the season.

JV BASEBALL

Continuing AN AMERICAN TRADITION

For almost a century, our country has had a passionate love affair with baseball. This was confirmed after last summer's home run race between Mark

McGuire and Sammy Sosa. While not quite as spectacular, the junior varsity baseball team had an outstanding season with 14 wins and only 4 losses for the whole season. The team was coached this year by former East Carteret student and baseball player, Chris Golden Jr. Gary Chadwick, head coach of the varsity team, Dustin Daniels, and Jimmy Piner all helped this remarkable team of young players. Most of the team was made up of freshmen who knew each other fairly well before coming to ECHS. According to parent Michelle Tickle, there was a great deal of cooperation between the parents, coaches, and players. This was a larger JV team than usual due to the amount of potential shown by so many. The JV team practiced hard every day, running many miles to stay in shape. Evidently, the great coaching, the past experience of the players, and the desire to win propelled this team into a successful season. Coaches Chadwick and Golden complemented the team at the post-season banquet as saying "This was one of the best junior varsity teams ever."

The Lady Mariners started the season off strongly with a lot of returning players. They were a big help since many of the returning players started the season late due to their participation in other sports. This did not affect their performance because the ladies knew how to play together, an attribute which helped all season long. The team became a type of family where everyone worked towards a common goal: to make it to the state playoffs. This goal became a reality with the hard work and determination of each and every player and coach on the team. With the defeat against the number one ranked Clinton Dark Horses, the Lady Mariners were on their way to Raleigh to play for the Regional and State Championships. Their win over the defending State Champions, South Granville, in eight innings, gave the Mariners the East Regional Championship title. This was a great honor and an exciting event for both the team and their fans. These fans traveled with the team a lot during the entire season, and their support helped to energize the players and give that extra push. The Mariners then lost two consecutive games, but it was not a great loss for they were named as one of the top three teams in the state.

After the game, the Lady Mariners huddle at second base to discuss the outcome of the game. These discussions helped to get the team ready for the next game.

Smiling, Carrie Smith and Cassondra Newkirk cheer on their team. This was hard to do considering they were all "caged up".

At the plate, Ashley Morris makes contact with the ball. She helped the team in the state play-offs with a .500 batting average in Raleigh.

In her defensive stance, Brooke Willis prepares to field the ball. She helped the team with a lot of saves on wild throws to first base.

On the bench the cheering begins. When there is a rally in the inning these girls are ready to yell!

The 1999 girls' track season was a very successful one. The 800 relay team won the state championship and the 1600 and 3200 relay teams set new school records. Many other team members contributed in regular season meets and regularly improved their personal bests. Coach Burbella said that they had an excellent season as all the girls on the team improved over the course of the schedule. "We extended our unbeaten streak to 45 wins over 3 years which is quite an accomplishment." Mrs. Davis said that the rewards of coaching track is to see team members improve and feel pride in their improvement. She also went on to say that East Carteret is very lucky to have a track coach as knowledgeable as Coach Burbella. "It has been an honor to work as his assistant and with the fine athletes at East Carteret."

...what comes to mind? Do you think of various athletes SPRINTING to the finish line or individuals throwing discus or shot put to unbelievable lengths? Well, this may all be true, but there is so much more to Mens' Track than that.. This year our men had a record of 13-1 and were ranked 2nd in their conference. They were invited TO the Lee Calhoun Invitational Relays at Duke University where they carried the school name with honor and dignity. The number of athletes that qualified for regionals jumped to 11, while we had 10 qualify for the State Meet. Along with these accomplishments, 2 school records were set: the Distance Medley and the 400 hurdles. When asked his thoughts on THE progress of the team, Coach Frazier gladly stated, "It was a very successful season--all the athletes worked very hard to bring about that success." The 1998 girls tennis team didn't only excel on the court, but also excelled in the classroom. They didn't let tennis practices and games get in the way of their grades - their main goal in highschool. The team consisted of five seniors, two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman. The team was very successful, maybe do to the return of five players, and an experienced coach. The success was shown at the end of the year, when many players received many different awards ranging from Most Improved to All Conference. As quoted from co-captain Amanda Nelson "This year was the best and most memorable season out of the four years I've played. I'll never forget it."

Patrick Willis swings low for the ball. This was Patrick's first year playing tennis for East. He and Mikie Richardson were on a doubles team with a record of 5-5.

Jarrett Piner ended his season with a 14-0 record. This is Jarrett's last year playing tennis for East Carteret, he has been an important component of the boys tennis team throughout his four years at East.

Rifle team members keep their cool while registering for the events they will participate in.

This year's Rifle Team is comprised of highly skilled competitors in the following divisions: Rifle, shotgun, archery, and hunter skills. The hunter skills event is a difficult one in which game identification, a compass course, and other necessary hunting skills are incorporated in competition.

These students have put in many hours practicing and competing throughout the state. Mr. Tom Sawyer was the team's sponsor.

MARINER 1998-1999 AWARD

Domaine Reels

Domaine Reels is a well-known student at East Carteret High School, not only for his athletic achievement but also for his sunny disposition, his integrity, and his commitment to achievement. He participated in 3 different sports at ECHS: Track (2 years), Football (4 years), and Basketball (4 years). In basketball, Domaine was captain both his junior and senior years. He was also an all-conference player and was awarded Most Valuable Player. The Carteret County News Times Player of the Year and was the Player of the Week in the News & Observer. Most notable, is NCHSAA Sportsmanship Award. With so many awards behind him and so much potential for the future, it is certain that Domaine's future will be bright and successful.

Leanne Chadwick

Ask anyone who she is and they will tell you. Leanne Chadwick has carved a name for herself during the 4 years that she has attended East Carteret. Her bright smile is as easy to recognize as her dedication to team playing and sportsmanship. Leanne was honored for her achievements in volleyball, basketball, and softball, all of which she played all 4 years of her high school career. She was an all-conference scholar athlete in volleyball as well as basketball and was also awarded Most Valuable Player in basketball. Leanne was also recognized as the Player of the Year in basketball and also received a sportsmanship award in the same sport. The Carteret County News Times chose her as the Player of the Year and she was a Scholar Athlete of the Week for the News & Observer.

Lori Willis

One tough character, Lori Willis is known for her quick comments and even quicker action on the playing field. There were few players who could match up to her relentless skills under the net. It is easy to see why the head coaches could not make a choice between Lori and Leanne for this award. Lori played volleyball her senior year and softball and basketball all 4 years. In softball, she was an all-conference player for 3 of those 4 years. She is the most recognized in basketball. An all-conference player her senior year, she was also awarded with the Coach's Award, a Sportsmanship Award, and with an Outstanding Rebound Award. All 3 of these athletes will be missed at East Carteret and they leave a legacy behind that is second to none.

Clubs and organizations have an impact on community as well as time.

In the process of keeping up their grades, students find the time to involve themselves in extracurricular activities. Clubs are a big part of the daily routine of school. Most students are in at least one or more clubs. These clubs not only give them activities to participate in but give them a sense of achievement.

There are many clubs offered at East Carteret High School. Above is seen Sharon Westfall. She is a member of the HOSA club. This club sponsors the blood drive that is held at the school. To the right, Jessica Sabino enjoys an FFA trip. She takes time to pose for a picture in her uniform.

Clubs are not all just being part of a group. Travis Baker learned to drive a tractor being a member of the FFA Club. This club also teaches people how to shoot rifles. The club members learn a lot about agriculture. The FFA Club won state awards this and were able to take many exciting trips around the state.

One of the most important factors of a club is the sponsor. The sponsors make it possible for the students to participate in the many activities that are offered. The clubs need a sponsor who will be willing to teach the students but also make it very interesting and full of excitement.

The Starting Line Up

Performing in the parade with confidence, Tracina Williams helped the flags to a successful show this season. They practiced hard everyday during and after school. Tracina and the other flags put a lot of time into the competitions and home football games when they would perform for an excited audience.

"With the many changes still happening with the band we had only a few veterans to work with this year but the new members came in with energy, excitement and an open mind for a new guard to begin. They gave 100% everyday, the only way it should be," said Barney Barker. The colorguard was lead by Allison Lewis and Sarah Fordham. According to Mr. Barker Allison and Sarah were great leaders. They were determined to accomplish all tasks at each rehearsal. In parades, performances, and football games the colorguard's portion of the show always ended with cheers and applause.

Twisting and twirling with the dancing dummies, the colorguard amused the audience with such creative props. Many people were overheard asking who the lifelike props were, sitting there on the bench.

While getting ready to launch their rifles in the air, Celeste Taylor and Lindsay Boyd concentrate on making a perfect practice performance.

This year's winterguard performed in five competitions. Four of them were in Virginia, and the remaining one was at West Carteret High School. The group performed to "Send Me On My Way" by Rusted Root. The staff for the Winterguard season consisted of Jonathan (Red) Colvin, Laurie Marshall, and Barney Barker. The group started practicing over the Christmas vacation and performed until Spring Break. This group's talent led to a number of awards throughout the season, which included a first, third, and fourth place ranking in three of their competitions. The group was lead by two captains: Allison Lewis, Rifle; Sarah Fordham, Flag. ECHS Winterguard was helped by the "floor boys." Allison Lewis said, "The floor boys were a big help to us throughout the season."

MAKING the Grade

Who needs a licensed auto mechanic when Richard Gaskill, Josh Gillikin, Scott Lutz, Jeremy Davis, Billy Beck, and Ted Walrath are around? While Scott finds the source of the problem, everyone else advises him. "Auto Tech gives students a preview of what to expect if they major in auto mechanics in college," stated Terry Wade.

Word problems can be tricky. Especially when you are in Mrs. Halliday's Intro to Business Management class. Lindsay Walker and Heather Dixon try their hardest to solve the equation. "This class was hard but I learned to manage money and I learned how to balance a check book," says Heather Dixon.

La cuisine française est si bonne! Ms. Raines' 3rd period French class prepares to cook an authentic French meal. David Sheppard is washing the tomatoes for a salad with boiled eggs in an oil and vinegar sauce. Jon Shepard, Star Simmons, and Tracey Petersen gather ingredients for paper-thin pancakes known as crêpes.

Let's face it, when it comes to studying, a few of us get kind of queasy. The thought of having to memorize facts, dates, and names is not really a thrilling one. The reasons students study is because they want to make good grades and get on with life. It's not always an easy task, but students do it regardless.

End of course testing has changed the way some teachers teach courses and how some students feel about learning the material for certain classes. Teachers tend to give more work but use different methods to present material. Smart Boards made note-giving a different experience and several courses like ELP frequently used software in the computer lab. David Sheppard says, "I think courses that don't have EOC tests are less stressful but a class that has a required test is intimidating."

In the end, it really just takes hard work and dedication to achieve. The desire to gain knowledge is entirely up to the student. When all is said and done the academic year is what you make it!

Classes aren't always easy, but there are many ways to make studying a little bit easier. "I just take notes and then review them," says Amanda Nelson. With classes like Marine Science and Latin II, studying can be crucial.

Writer's block can be a pain, especially when you have a history paper due. As Gabriel Davis sits in the library, he tries to think of what he is going to say next in his History report. Gabriel is a senior and plans on going to college at A & T University.

Who is it??

How WELL Do You

Know Your Faculty? (answers on bottom of page 147)

Mrs. Janie Collins works very hard keeping East Carteret's campus a clean and beautiful place. She is often seen in the halls of ECHS as well as in the enclosed courtyards throughout the school.

The ONES Who Make it Happen

Teachers are the key for a successful future. This year new faculty members brightened our educational environment.

Knowledge does not come automatically. Throughout life we attend school to gain knowledge needed for future use. The faculty of East Carteret High School is dedicated to imparting this knowledge to its students. ☺ If asked on a daily basis many of the faculty members would admit they take time from their home life to stay after school one or more hours to help a student with a problem. ☺ Teachers are responsible for interpreting information and passing it on to students with fun and exciting methods. The ECHS faculty achieves this and much more. ☺ This year, East Carteret employed a lot of new teachers. Being in a new environment with a different array of students is thought to be very stressful, so we found out the dirt. ☺ We asked two new teachers if they felt stressed under new teaching conditions at ECHS and meeting scholastic requirements. Mrs. Van Ness who coached volleyball on top of teaching math commented, "Any new teacher feels stress but the other teachers here are always willing to help. I did, however, get a little stressed during volleyball season trying to juggle two teams in addition to my regular teaching load." ☺ On the other hand, Mr. Treadway, math teacher and athletic director, responded by saying, "No, I really feel that students will do whatever it takes to succeed. My goal is to be able to break it down in a manner that makes it easier for them to understand."

Principal

Dr. Mary Jayne McReynolds

As Dr. McReynolds was growing up she set her mind on being a teacher. She was inspired by her sixth grade and high school math teachers. It baffled her how one's mind could obtain information. In fact, her fondest high school memory was "...figuring out algebra and it made sense."

Dr. McReynolds claims her greatest accomplishment to be enjoying her work. There are three components to what she considers a successful year: one in which students are both physically and psychologically safe, where there are academic improvements and test score gains, and where respectful treatment of staff and students exists. When she retires she plans to spend time gardening, reading, and maybe even taking some painting/landscape design classes.

Asst. Principal

Mrs. Patricia Hudnall

Did you know as a child our assistant principal, Mrs. Hudnall wanted to be a gypsy? She was fascinated with their different travels and caravan life. As she matured she sought guidance in her mother. Mrs. Hudnall said, "My mother had great patience, she had to, especially working as a first grade teacher."

Mrs. Hudnall attended ECHS where she won the Senior English award. Unlike current recipients of this award, Mrs. Hudnall had to maintain the highest English average for her class all four years. Still she considers her greatest accomplishment as being an assistant principal at ECHS. We plan to see Mrs. Hudnall next year unless she wins the lottery, in which case her job would become her hobby and not actual work.

Asst. Principal

Mr. Clinton Montford

After losing Mr. Dillon, Coach Montford willingly filled the position of assistant principal; even though he had never considered becoming an administrator. Instead he had ambitions to be an NBA basketball player, because he loves the game. During his basketball career at ECHS his fondest memory was scoring 24 points in only 3 minutes of one quarter. Coach Montford gives credit to his Uncle John Pasteur for being a hard working individual, who inspired him through life.

When asked what he would do if he won the lottery, he said, "I would continue teaching and coaching basketball." When all the teaching and coaching is finished, Coach Montford just wants to fish and live comfortably.

STRIVING TO BE THE BEST... and only the best!!!

It is a great honor to be a member of the Beta Club. To be inducted, students must have a 3.5 GPA and a 90 overall average. Beta Club members must possess four important keys. They are achievement, leadership, and character, scholarship. This year, five seniors and thirty-seven juniors were inducted into the Beta Club. After being inducted, members must maintain their average and GPA. Beta members must also participate in club activities such as the Walk-a-thon and courtyards.

You Gotta have... Art

The East Carteret chapter of the National Art Honor Society is in its sixth year and going strong. Sponsored by Mrs Kathy Gillikin, students must be able to maintain a 93 in art and an 85 overall average. produce at least two works of art each year. These are important for the students that East Carteret sends throughout the year. This year many of the N.A.H.S. members accompanied Mrs. Gillikin and other art students on a trip to Washington D.C.

making the most of it

Always changing, never sitting still, yearbook publication is a fast-paced rush to meet deadlines and document the lives of students at ECHS.

Colophon

The 35th volume of the East Wind was published by the East Wind staff and printed by the Herff Jones plant in Charlotte, NC. It has a trim size of 7 3/4 X 10 1/2 and Smith Sewn binding. There are a total of 200 pages in 13 signatures. The press run was 350 copies with name stamps in an orange foil and applied copper ink on the binding. The cover is a quarter-bound lithograph with a company designed, four color air brush design. The 1999 East Wind was produced on a Power Macintosh 5400 using PageMaker 6.5. Some layouts were produced using the Herff Jones Gallery.

With so much to do and so little time to do it in, East Wind staff members worked hard to track down stories, collect statistics, snap photographs, and design layouts. To an outsider, being on the staff may appear to be an easy job. "I expect a lot of my staff. The responsibility of producing this book rests primarily on their shoulders," stated Ms. Raines, the East Wind sponsor. Last year, the yearbook took on a completely new look with it's new layout design rules and new software program for typing copy. This year, the staff took a bold new step and drew all layouts on PageMaker, a sophisticated desktop publishing program. Yearbook pages came to life, as for the first time, staff members were able to see what their designs would look like before seeing the final product in the finished book. Dedicated to improvement, the East Wind staff will continue to make the most of their opportunity to leave a distinct mark on the history of East Carteret.

A common sight during 1st and 2nd periods this year was Ms. Raines sitting at her computer. No, she wasn't playing games; she was busy editing yearbook layouts, a detailed and lengthy process.

East Wind Staff: Anna Fansler, Lisa Knox, Katie Daniels, Lori Willis, Leanne Chadwick, Tracey Peterson, Elizabeth Montgomery, Carol Cook, Leslie Morris, Sue Anne Lewis, Emily Ustach, Missy Ethridge, Brandy Sanders, Rachel Nelson, Angela Stallings, Galen Jones, Rebecca Perritt, Dawn Browning, David Sheppard, Ms. Raines, and Catherine Brake.

On June 12 the entire staff was invited for a cookout to Ms. Raines' seaside apartment. Chilly for a June day, those who were able to come huddled around the grill for warmth. What a way to celebrate!

Focusing on getting those lines straight, Brandy Sanders copies the 1st draft of her layout from a laminated sheet to paper. Once approved, the design was drawn on the computer and eventually became the Homecoming night layout you see on pages 18-19.

Who Did What?

Catherine Brake: Senior Portraits, Sophomore Divider, Colorguard, and Ads; Dawn Browning: Prom Night, Senior Portraits, JV Volleyball, JV Softball, JV Baseball, Faculty Divider, and Ads; Leanne Chadwick: Student Life Divider, Dedication/Teacher of the Year, Freshmen, Sports Divider, Varsity Girls Basketball, Varsity Softball, Faculty, and Ads; Carol Cook: Assemblies, Senior Divider, Senior Class, Senior Montage, Varsity Football, Varsity Volleyball, Beta Club, Yearbook, and Ads; Katie Daniels: Band, Sophomores, and Colorguard; Missy Ethridge: Drama/Night of One Acts and Freshmen Divider; Anna Fansler: Senior Divider, JV Football, and Faculty Divider; Galen Jones: Prom Montage, New Teacher Feature, Juniors, Men's Track, and Academic Divider; Lisa Knox: Senior Portraits and Faculty Divider; Sue Anne Lewis: Chorus, Who's Who, Freshmen, JV Cheerleading, Rifle Team, Winterguard, Faculty, and Ads; Elizabeth Montgomery: Title Page, Underclassmen Montage, JV Football, Varsity Boys Basketball, Club Divider, Clubs, NAHS, and Ads; Leslie Morris: Sophomore Divider and Faculty; Rachel Nelson: Varsity Volleyball, Soccer, and Girls Tennis; Rebecca Perritt: Senior Superlatives, Autograph Page, Sophomores, Cross Country, JV Girls Basketball, Women's Track, Principals, and Ads; Tracey Peterson: Homecoming Feature and JV Volleyball; Brandy Sanders: Homecoming Night, Varsity Football, and Soccer; David Sheppard: What's Next, Juniors, Varsity Baseball, and Ads; Angela Stallings: Assemblies, Sophomores, and Cross Country; Emily Ustach: Musical, Prom Work, Junior Divider, JV Boys Basketball, Boys' Tennis, Mariner Award, Club Divider, Clubs, Academic Banquet, and Ads; Lori Willis: Senior Montage, Freshmen, and Faculty; Ms. Raines, Jr/Sr Field Day, Baccalaureate, Graduation, Junior Marshals, Varsity Cheerleading, Yearbook, Ads, and Final Editing.

This publication of the East Wind was another successful one. In order for that to be true, many things have to be done by the staff.

One important job to do is sell ads. Ads are the main source of income for the yearbook. Every year, staff members go to stores and companies with folders in hand to persuade the managers to buy ads. It is not always an easy job because many times you have to go back to the store time after time to talk to the manager or owner. Also, the staff gets lots of rejection but they have to keep going until all the ads are sold.

This year we offered six sizes of ads. A Patron-sized ad was $20, a eighth- $30, a fourth- $50, a third- $60, a half- $80, and a full page ad $120. Prices were discounted for senior ads. It is good to offer so many sizes which fit everyone's needs and advertisement budget.

The yearbook staff would like to thank everyone who contributed by purchasing an ad. No matter what ad size was bought, everyone helped to support the yearbook. If no one bought ads, there would be no such thing as the East Wind.

Thanks to all,
East Wind Yearbook Staff

We
Did not plant you,
True.
But when
The season is done-
When the alternate
Prayers for SUN
And for rain
Are counted-

When the pain
Of weeding
And the pride
Of watching
Are through-

Then
We will hold you
High.

A shining leaf
Above the thousand
Seedlings grows wild.

Not Our planting,
But by heaven
Our harvest-
Our own CHILD.

Bobbi Lynn,

Sending you into life brings many things to mind: your safety, hopes of always making good choices, dreams of a wonderful, bright future with a man who will cherish you, praying that God will always feel near to you, lasting friendships and money in your pocket. The list goes on and on. These things are not absolute though. If I can offer any one gift that can be carried with you through life, its that you matter and that you will never stand alone.
